GC studies drainage bond issue

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

The possibility of holding a bond issue referendum to raise funds for a new city-wide stormwater sewer system in Granite City is to be studied by a committee being formed by Mayor Paul Schuler.

Seventh Ward Alderman Ronald Coleman Monday night requested that the mayor appoint such a committee. His request was supported unanimously by the city council.

Referring to a heavy rain here Aug. 12, Coleman said, "In view of the drainage problems we have been experiencing, I ask the mayor to form a committee of three members and himself and a committee of citizens, including members of the mayor's Community Resources Commission, to study the possibility of a bond issue for stormwater drainage in the city as soon as possible." Alderman Everett Morien of the First Ward said it would be useless to install new stormwater sewers unless ways to get the water out of the city were found.

"It won't do any good to put any more water into these ditches that are already full when it rains," he said. Alderman Claude Green of the Fourth Ward agreed, saying more outlets from the drainage ditches are needed and alternatives, including pumping stations, should be considered rather than utilizing gravity only to take the water out of the ditches. Robert Baranich of the Fifth Ward commented, "I am in favor, but we better be prepared to talk real big money."

In 1962, voters here turned down a revenue bond issue which would have provided $4 million for new storm sewers. In an effort to relieve the city's present storm sewer system, which has been shown inadequate during recent heavy rains, the council passed guidelines for the construction of storm water retention basins or holding ponds at major construction projects. The new guidelines will affect the Schuchman-Carpis and K-Mart developments along Nameoki Road.

The guidelines call for basins to be constructed of concrete or comparable substance approved by the city engineer. The ponds are to be able to hold more than the runoff water which would be produced by the heaviest storm recorded here in the past 15 years and lasting for 20 minutes.

Each basin must be equipped with two or more alternating pumps, so if one fails, the other will continue operating.

Sensing devices are to be installed which will keep the basin from draining into the storm sewers during a rainfall or while the sewers are full.

The basins may not be drained into the sewers for two hours after a storm has ceased, according to the new ordinance.

Complaints were heard from aldermen and city inspectors that a new project had hooked its drainage lines directly into the city storm sewer without seeking permission from the city, and had added to flooding in the Briarcliff area during the Aug. 12 rain.

A contractor has agreed to disconnect the line, the inspector said.

Another contractor was informed that his holding pond would have to be made larger and deeper and reportedly agreed to comply.

Teachers reach new agreement

Negotiators for the Granite City School District and the Granite City Federation of Teachers Local 743 reached a tentative agreement on a new working pact last night.

The Board of Education will see the new package Wednesday and the teachers are to meet at 8:30 a.m. Thursday, Aug. 30, in the Labor Temple to vote on terms of the agreement.

Spokesmen for both sides declined to discuss terms of the agreement until after Thursday's vote by the teachers. A school district spokesman said, "We are pretty satisfied."

Negotiations yesterday were to have begun at 7:30 p.m. with members of a subcommittee on the school district's financial status meeting first and the full negotiating teams meeting after that.

Late yesterday afternoon, the two sides agreed to a preliminary meeting and to move directly into negotiations. The teams met from 7:30 p.m. to 11:45 p.m. before emerging with the tentative agreement. The school district is far from finished with negotiations. Agreements have yet to be reached with custodians, secretaries, cafeteria workers, teamsters, carpenters, laborers, painters and all non-certificated personnel. All are working without contracts pending negotiations.

New treatment plant nears construction

Final steps toward starting construction of the Granite City secondary sewage treatment plant were initiated Monday night as the City Council approved changes to the lease agreement with the Granite City Army Installation where the new facility will be located.

The M & W engineering firm of St. Louis, which designed the new facility, completed surveying work and placing of stakes at the site and the G. L. Tarrill Contracting Co. of St. Louis, which is to build the plant, moved a mobile home office to the site Tuesday begin final surveying and preparations for construction. An official of the M & W firm said Tuesday he is completing the final paperwork required by the federal government before work can be started. He said an official groundbreaking will be scheduled as soon as permission to begin is received.

The City Council Monday night agreed to sign a supplemental agreement with the Army to expand the treatment plant already on the installation.

The resolution now must be presented to the Army to expand the ground leased to begin is received.

Gateway attacks development

East-West Council. The advisory board voted in favor of a resolution which requests the Madison County Board to rescind its approval of rezoning for the development and study the "regional implications of such action."

The resolution now must be presented to the full East-West Council Thursday, Aug. 29, for a vote. The board will meet at 3 p.m. at 720 Olive St., St. Louis.

The document opposes the proposed $20 million residential-recreational-light industrial-commercial project on the grounds that "non-agricultural development in this floodplain area will compound several drainage problems such as those in Doherty Slough and other areas south of such development. The Madison County Board on June 11 approved the development by a 26-1 vote with many board members speaking highly of a previous Sasyk development, the Arlington Heights subdivision and golf course.

The new development is to be located north of Interstate 270 between Highways 111 and 157. Sasyk has said 100 acres are to be donated as a county park, and 100 acres are to be donated for commercial purposes, 120 to 130 acres for a golf course, 90 to 100 acres for apartments and about 500 acres for homes and mobile homes. Limited manufacturing sites also are proposed.

The committee said the rezoning of the 770 acres is not consistent with the county's land use plan adopted last spring. Jack Clifford, Madison County building and zoning official and a member of the East-West advisory committee, told the group that the development was planned within the county's land use plan was approved.

Clifford also said that local zoning problems should be under the jurisdiction of local agencies if they do not have an adverse effect on other areas.

The committee also recommended approval of an application to develop a master plan for future development at Lambert-St. Louis International Airport. Master planning for Lambert Field is not expected to affect a decision on whether to have a new airport should be built in Illinois.

The full council supported a Columbia Waterway site for the facility in a Dec. 15, 1971 vote.

The wording of the Lambert master plan application is "consistent with the plans of the Federal Aviation Administration for the St. Louis region and with prior findings and actions of this Council on Dec. 15, 1971."

Checks—"it didn't give me any money," Walker stated. He also said he knew of no illegal practices employed by the project and added, "to the best of my knowledge no pressure tactics were used on anyone" to contribute to his campaign.

Walker was responding to stories in two Chicago newspapers that his fundraising activities had included questionable legal practices, apparent rewards to big contributors, pressure on potential donors, and possible links to organized crime.

Pontoon trustee quits

A Pontoon Beach village trustee resigned and a replacement was named by the village board at a special meeting Saturday afternoon, a Press-Record investigation revealed this week.

The board accepted the resignation of Trustee John Cole who has served since 1971. Cole was chairman of the village road and annexation committees and formerly headed the finance and police committees.

He also was the village's representative to the Office of Emergency Preparedness for flood relief efforts and served as chairman of the village's Cystic Fibrosis drive.

Named to replace him on the board was Marvin Ribbing, 35, of 7 Lally Ave. Ribbing said he was called to home during Saturday's Board meeting and was asked to come to the meeting immediately.

He said there was no prior notification he was being considered for a board position but that he had become friends with Village Board President Floyd David Moss and Raymond Gaudette Jr. during the April election and had been told at that time that "something might open up."

Ribbing is employed as a lab tester at Shell Oil Co. in Wood River. This is his first public office. He has been a village resident five-and-a-half years. He and his wife, Audrey, have two children.

Board members reported several names were considered to replace Cole but that the vote had been unanimous for Ribbing.

Cole said he was resigning for "varied and personal reasons." He would not elaborate when contacted this week.

Local news media were unaware of the meeting. Moss said a member of the police department called the Press-Record at 2:15 p.m. Friday and logged the call on the police docket.

He said he personally posted notices of the meeting Friday afternoon on the village hall bulletin board and at the first station. An employee of the village hall contacted no notice had been posted on the bulletin board there.

Written notices were delivered to all board members and to the village clerk, who said.

was on vacation. No written notices were sent to local news media. Dr. Dean Rochester, who is in Canada, and Cole, were the only trustees absent Saturday.

The special meeting lasted about one-and-a-half hours, according to several trustees, with only the resignation, appointment and the village's proposed traffic control ordinance on the agenda.

Moss said he informed the board that the traffic ordinance, establishing speed limits and stop signs throughout the village, is being studied by Horace Calvo, the board's attorney, and will be presented to the board for consideration at its regular meeting Thursday night.

The executive advisory committee of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council voted Monday to discourage development of a 770-acre tract of land in Chouteau and Edwardsville townships which is being developed by a group of investors, including Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk.

Sasyk is a member of the East-West Council. The advisory board voted in favor of a resolution which requests the Madison County Board to rescind its approval of rezoning for the development and study the "regional implications of such action."

New high school ready

The present construction road from Maryville Road into the school property will be enlarged to form a circle drive for buses only, and consent has been given by Jack Jackson, owner of Bowland, for parents bringing their children to school to use his parking lot as a driveway to the school walkway at the eastern side of the bowling alley lot.

Entrances and exits to both Bowland and Tri-City Speedway parking areas are accessible from Nameoki Road only. Construction along Nameoki Road is not expected to interfere with the flow of traffic, but the board advises that as few persons as possible drive and park in the area. There will be no day-long parking at Bowland for anyone except on the parking places designated for the school facility only.

Students who drive their own automobiles to school will be required to park at the Tri-City Speedway, approximately one-fourth mile north of the school property. Pupils will walk to the Bowland parking lot and cross to the eastern walkway to gain entrance to school property.

Ruebner emphasized that this is a temporary arrangement. All walks will be ready from

Arrest two, recover drugs at Bellemore

Village Shopping Center. A large quantity of drugs recovered at scene four Granite City police officers.

Charged with burglary are Jerry Lynn Stucker, 34, of 808 Hildebrand St., Madison, and Clyde Thomas Harper, 30, of St. Louis County.

The chief judge of the U.S. District Court of Maryland says Vice President Spiro T. Agnew can't be subpoenaed to testify before a special grand jury investigating alleged political corruption.

"That is because he has been put on notice by the Justice Department that he could be a defendant," Judge Edward S. Nordrup said this week. "We could agree to appear voluntarily if he wished, but that would be his own personal choice. He can't be made to come."

Agnew, former governor of Maryland, is being investigated with other political and business figures—many of his former associates—for possible extortion, bribery, conspiracy and tax fraud.

A MONSTER? Three boys fishing at Tower Lake on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville have proof that the lake contains a monster. No doubt they'll be talking the rest of the year about "the big one that got away." The scene raises an interesting question: "Is there a monster in Tower Lake?"

How to choose dinnerware

By JOYCE ROARK
Copy News Service

Choosing a pattern and type of dinnerware that complements your glasses, flatware, and furnishings as well as your style of living can be difficult if you aren't familiar with the terminology used. Pottery is made from an impure clay. It's porous, brown in color and chips easily. Because it can't withstand high temperature a suitable glass has not been developed. While it's usually used for flower pots, dishes are occasionally made of pottery. Earthenware is made from a purer clay than pottery. It's opaque and can be either white or colored. It's less expensive than other types of dinnerware. The glaze used on some earthenware contains lead. Acidic foods, such as tomatoes that come in contact with it, react causing lead poisoning.

Earthenware manufactured in the United States in the last 15 years does not contain lead in the glaze. However, earthenware produced in countries such as Mexico still contain lead in the glaze. Porcelain is made from a hard paste clay. Another name for porcelain is "vitrified," which means nonporous with a glassy finish. It's highly translucent, white and strong (durable). The glazes used on porcelain can withstand high temperatures. Some of the most popular brands include: Meissen (Germany), Dresden (Germany), Limoges (France), Rosenthal (Germany), Royal Copenhagen (Denmark), Lenox (United States), Franciscan (United States), Syracuse (United States) and Haviland (United States).

Bone china gets its name from the bone ash that is added to the porcelain. The bone ash also is what gives the china its creamy white color. Bone china is vitrified, as is porcelain. It's made in England and will ring if tapped lightly. The one quality of bone china that makes it most elegant of dinnerwares is its translucency. Popular brands of bone china are Wedgwood, Coalport, Spode, Minton, and Royal Doulton.

No matter which dinnerware you choose, some things are always the same.

Place settings are five pieces, consisting of:
1 dinner plate
1 dessert plate
1 bread-butter plate
1 cup
1 saucer

Alternate pieces which can be purchased are: soup bowls, serving dishes, creamer and sugar and platters.

Open stock means that additional pieces may be purchased as long as the manufacturer makes the pattern. Closed stock is a set of 4, 6, 8 or 12 place settings and every piece is counted. No additional pieces may be purchased.

Service for eight (53 pieces) consists of the following:

8 dinner plates
8 salad plates
8 bread-butter plates
8 cups
8 saucers
8 bowls
1 sugar bowl and lid
1 platter
1 vegetable dish

Look at all the pieces before you make your purchase. Check the stability of the cup and saucer. Be sure the handles are securely attached. Examine the shapes of the pieces. Do the plates have a raised band or a raised edge? Will the design complement the food? Check the cream pitcher for pouring ease. Determine which extra pieces are needed and if they are available.

Wool is back — at higher price

By BARBARA HERRERA
Copy News Service

There's good news for husbands sick of struggling on pant suits drip-drying in the shower.

And for women — working women, especially — who are weary of washing out polyester knits at night.

Wool is back.

Textile manufacturers are knitting the ageless natural fiber into more versatile, modern fabrics that the sheep wouldn't recognize. And wool designers are using them to fashion a good many of the classic, elegant clothes they are pushing for fall.

Not that the news will light up every consumer. There are still those wash-and-wear devotees thankful for the money-saving convenience of polyesters.

But the truth is that for many women the miracle "convenience" fabric has become a tiresome bother.

For them, wash and wear has turned into a nightly headache of interpreting differing washing instructions, hand washing, and touchup ironing.

More and more women are confiding, somewhat guiltily, that they long for the luxury of bundling their soiled clothes off to the cleaners.

They're bored with the sameness of the polyester look. And they're tired of the fabric's bad habits of standing up when they sit down, attracting dirt, and clinging to stains.

And now that the fashion industry has, as usual, been quick to catch on to the change in consumer winds, manufacturers are competing for the wool off the sheep's back.

The wool industry, of course, is bleating with pleasure.

Small wonder.

Until very recently the American wool industry had fallen on hard times. Just 18 months ago the national average price of wool — "in the gross," as they call the raw wool as it comes from the sheep's back — was 19¢ cents a pound.

That was the lowest price brought by wool in 50 years. Today it's a very different story, with wool commanding the highest price of any textile on the market.

What it all means to the clothes buyer this fall takes no prophet to foresee — higher prices for those chunky, woolly fashions that the designers hope to crowd into your closet.

"Respectable" the American Wool Council calls the prices being asked for the sheep's coat.

But you may have other words for it when you find clothes asking 12 to 20 percent more for clothes this fall than they asked last fall.

Whether wool will overcome the American woman's coolness to its prices enough to vanquish the long-reigning polyester, remains to be seen.

Petitions

for annexation into the Belleville Area College District. Knapen and other backers of a local district met four hours during the weekend with officials of the Lewis & Clark district at the specific request of the Illinois Junior College Board.

He said the Lewis & Clark officials indicated "we would be welcome and said they would do everything possible to serve our area, but our area would be part of a large district and all decisions would have to be in the best interests of the entire district."

Lewis & Clark presently

Granite City Press-Record

serves Jersey, Calhoun, Green and Pike counties and is considering adding Adams County. Cities served include Godfrey, Wood River, Alton, East Alton and Edwardsville.

The college had an enrollment of 2,000 students last year and is anticipating 3,000 students by fall. Long-term projections estimate 10,000 by 1980, not including students from the Quad-City area.

Local representatives asked Lewis & Clark officials about the possibility of sponsoring junior college classes at SIUE, possibly using SIUE instructors.

"They said they had not considered using SIUE but that idea would be studied if we would join their district. They were not encouraged about using the SIUE facility but said possibly some classes could also be taught in the Quad-City," Knapen added.

Knapen said most local officials still would prefer to begin a district here but that the possibility of joining Lewis & Clark must be explored if the junior college will offer local classes.

"The point we keep trying to stress is that we are going to have to pay taxes eventually to a junior college," Knapen said. "The only question will be whether we have local control over the decisions concerning how our money is spent."

He said the area has the option of being assigned to another district and then petitioning to dismember—referred to as the "backdoor amendment"—but that the area would only be free of any association with a district a short time and that there are penalties involved.

"We know the 'backdoor amendment' will be outlawed soon. An attempt to bar it was introduced in the state legislature this year and failed, but it will be returned because the Master Plan for Education in Illinois says clearly that every geographical area will be in some junior college district," Knapen explained.

"If we should elect to back out of a district and not pay junior college taxes for a time, we face several very severe penalties.

"We now have a special tax rate to pay the tuition of our students attending other junior colleges. Last year Granite City paid $118,858 for tuition from the special rate. This year $235,000 has been levied by the GC school district for that purpose."

"The law authorizing the special tax rate for that purpose expires next year. It has not been renewed. If we do not join a junior college district, we still will be required to pay the tuition of our students attending junior college and the money will have to come from somewhere besides taxes. We will end up squeezing the budget for our elementary, junior high and high school students," he continued.

Another penalty will be a disadvantage in the selection of classes, he said. "Students not in a district must take second choice in their selection of classes. By joining a junior college district, we must give preference in class assignments to the district's students and out-of-district students may have what is left over," he explained.

"The third penalty," he said, "is that these other districts will make their long term plans excluding us if we have joined. When some day we are in a district, the district's plans will be established with full campuses, none in our area."

"We object to students having to drive all the way to Godfrey or Belleville to attend junior college classes and feel establishing our own district will avoid this."

"If we want to establish our own district, now is the time. There is no other time to do it. The state Junior College Board will be making up its mind by late September and after that it will be too late," Knapen concluded.

Travel upsets 'inner clock'

By MARRION WELLS
Copley News Service

Are you traveling this vacation? Whether you're off across the country or the world, feeling "under the weather" can spoil your fun. Here are some hints to help you have a healthier, more enjoyable trip.

If you're planning to fly east-west or west-east across a few time zones, there's more to adjust than the time on your watch. Your body has an "inner clock," and it is harder to reset.

A variety of life functions follow an internal daily cycle. Russian studies made about an eight- to nine-hour flight route across time zones showed that time zone changes may affect brain function, heart action and blood pressure. The Russians noted that individual pilots had subjective symptoms of fatigue. Crew members experienced disturbances in sleep, relaxation and eating schedules.

Does flight direction make a difference? Federal Aviation Administration studies revealed impaired psychological performance only after long trips from east to west. When it comes to time zone shifts, keep in mind that each of us is an individual. Some of us adjust more readily than others. A few of these suggestions listed by Executive Health Report may prove helpful to you:

1. Since resetting your "inner clock" is a strain, it's important to start your flight as rested as you can. This also goes for the return trip. Avoid cramming your last day on vacation with everything you "can't possibly leave without doing or seeing."

2. On the plane, either turn down food and dishes you're not used to, or partake in great moderation. Your diet can put additional stress on your body. Also, reduce or eliminate alcohol.

3. When you reach your destination, allow yourself a one-day "breather" before plunging "full swing" into your itinerary. Also, try to arrive before midnight so your first activity is a full night's rest. A brisk walk before bed may be helpful in falling asleep.

4. When planning your trip, take your age and physical condition into consideration. Remember, the length of the flight, layovers, a turbulent trip and climatic differences can all be stress factors. Do what you can to minimize them.

If you're planning to go overseas, check the health situation in the countries you expect to visit. Vaccinations which are advisable are not always required. An awareness of such public health problems as malaria and hepatitis can stimulate you to take precautions which can safeguard your health and even your life.

Are you taking medication regularly for a particular condition? Be sure to take a supply with you that will last the duration of your stay outside the United States, along with a prescription slip to show why you have the medication. Policy and quality of the drugs may be different in other countries.

Remember, your travel agent may write your airline ticket, but the ticket for a healthier, more enjoyable trip is one you write yourself.

junior, practicing in the left halfback position. All positions still are open and decisions on the varsity lineup will not be made by the coaches until the first week in September. (Press-Record Photo)

"As far as their physical condition is concerned our players are looking in good shape," Head Football Mentor Tom Wyrostek of the Granite City High School-North Steelers, said Tuesday.

"What we need now is to have more freshmen and sophomores come out for football so that we can build for the future," he said. "Any boy interested in playing should contact any of the coaches as soon as possible."

"The sooner a young man starts practicing the quicker he becomes a good player."

The Steelers are working out 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. every day at Grigsby Junior High School.

Coaching the freshmen are Dean Baren and Ron Yates. Russ Chappell is the sophomore coach.

Assisting Wyrostek with the varsity gridders are Chuck Mizerski, coaching the line, and Bob Stegmeyer, coaching the backs.

Wyrostek graduated in 1960 from East St. Louis High School where he starred as an offensive center and defensive middle guard.

While majoring in physical education at the University of Missouri, the Steeler coach made All-American.

City High School Warrior coaching staff as assistant varsity coach in 1965.

He and his wife, Virginia Sue, have three future football stars in the family. Thomas Timothy 10, James Andrew, 9, and Sean David, 7.

"We have two experienced lettermen returning that should spark the team," Wyrostek said. "Rick Bohmstedt (5-10, 185, senior) probably will play defensive and offensive end. He seems to have some good talent," Wyrostek added.

"John McMillan (6-4, 225, senior) will be with us as a defensive and offensive tackle. We have 48 players out for the varsity team and that won't change much between now and the season opening. We have about 20 freshmen and 20 sophomores and we hope that will increase."

"So far in practice we have been working on conditioning and have not started hitting yet. We will probably begin hitting Thursday and Friday. On Saturday we will put on equipment and scrimmage a little."

"All the positions right now are up for grabs. When we start hitting we start separating the men from the boys."

The football debut for the new GCIS-North gridders will be at 8 p.m., Friday, Sept. 14, in the GCIS-South stadium.

Entries for the Men's and Women's Slow Pitch Tournament to be conducted next week at Wilson and Worthen Parks are still being accepted by the Granite City Park District.

Superintendent Harold Brown said that the limit of 16 teams in the Men's Division has been filled but that applications still are needed to fill the 12-team limit in the Women's Division.

Both tournaments are restricted to Granite City Park District teams only. Entries are being accepted on a first-come, first-served basis at the Park office.

The first double elimination competition will begin Tuesday, Aug. 28, and conclude on Monday, Sept. 1.

GARAGE SALE U.S.A.

The neighborhood garage sale is sort of an American institution. Like baseball, apple pie, and Chevrolets.

So it seems only natural that Chevrolet should have a Garage Sale.

Ah, but unlike some garage sales you've been to, Chevrolet is not selling antiques. Just shiny new cars, and some tough new trucks.

We can't tell you, in this ad, exactly which models and styles and colors. After all, there are over 6000 Chevrolet dealers across the country.

We're simply here to suggest that if you're even remotely in the market for a new Chevrolet, you ought to go down to your dealer's and browse.

With a little luck you'll come up with a big bargain.

Chevrolet Malibu Coupe. For people who love driving as much as we do. A traditional favorite.

1969 Custom Coupe. The Great American Value you after year. Traditionally high in resale value, too.

Chevrolet Sport Sedan. For people who want the finer things while they're still young enough to enjoy them.

Mercer finishes 10-10 season

The Mercer Funeral Home team this week ended its regular season with a 10-10 record in Illinois Inter-City Baseball League competition after posting its third straight victory. Mercer downed Highland-Pierson 3-0 this week.

Mercer pitcher Vic Renack, drove in two of the runs on a single in the fourth inning allowing Bill Campbell and Bob Scott to score the final runs of the game.

Dave Huddleston had scored in the first inning on a Highland error. Huddleston singled, but came home free when Larry Corey hit a ground ball that Highland's shortstop threw over the first baseman.

Renack (9-4), who has pitched 113 innings and allowed only 30 runs this season, will lead Mercer against Roxana this weekend in playoff competition.

The St. Mary's Boosters team had its playoff hopes dampened as Jim Huggins, pitcher for Mollor Motors of Collinsville, struck out 14 of its players and pitched a four hitter in leading his team to a 7-3 victory.

The Boosters team, which finished last year's regular season at 9-9, is out of the picture with a 3-14 record after a defeat at the hands of Altus Piasa Monday in a make-up game.

If Mercer should win this weekend, it will advance in the playoffs and meet second place Troy next week.

Finish tourney

Two area teams were among 44 of the top softball teams in the state that gathered at Jacksonville to participate in the Illinois Amateur Softball Association Class "A" men's slow pitch tournament during the weekend.

The Granite City class A regional champion, Brothers Two Sporting Goods, and regional runner-up, Victory Tavern, were victorious in their opening series of games.

Brothers Two posted a 12th victory over Jenceno of Kankakee and was then defeated 6-5 by K-Way Rockford to place 12th in the competition.

Victory Tavern finished 14th after beating the Cahokia Jets 6-6 but then losing to the Caseyville VFW. Mendham Sporting Goods had been eliminated at the start of the tournament, finishing 42nd statewide.

3rd GC Park District Golf Tourney Sept. 15

The Granite City Park District will host its 3rd Annual Men's Golf Tournament beginning at 1 p.m. Sept. 15 and continuing on Sept. 16 at the Arlington Golf Club.

The tournament, open to all GC Park District men, will consist of Championship, B, and C Flights, with 1st, 2nd and 3rd place trophies to be awarded in each of the four flights. An eight stroke shoot-out will be in effect for the tournament.

A prize will be awarded to the

Carter in behalf of the St. Louis Children's Hospital. Charles Dornay (left), Greater St. Louis Motorcycle Dealers Association representative, and Robert E. Honor motorcycle racers

During the American Motorcycle Association sanctioned racing program at Tri-City Speedway Tuesday evening, Shriners Potentate James E. Carter of St. Louis announced that the gold book at the Shriner's Children's Hospital in St. Louis will be emblazoned with three new names, not doctors, but motorcycleists.

Carter then presented, in behalf of the hospital, awards to the Greater St. Louis Motorcycle Dealers' Association which last month sponsored a benefit motorcycle race at Tri-City with all proceeds, three $500 bonds, donated to the hospital to be used for treatment of children's diseases. Cycle racers Neil Keen of St. Louis and Robert E. Lee of Port Worth, Tex., were named as co-contributors. The 1971 track champion here and Lee, the defending champion, had been selected as co-contributors by the association because of their "outstanding contributions to the sport of motorcycleing" and for regular participation at the weekly racing programs here.

Carter, in accepting the bonds, praised the area motorcycle dealers, fans and racers for their help and support of the hospital.

Three games will be played today beginning at 7 p.m. with Maxine & Bob's Tavern meeting the Western Division winner Carmody Postiac; the Northern Division winner vs. JMS Slaggle Sluggers; and Tri-City Park against Pete & Mary's.

Friday Jacobsmeyers will play the winner of the first game. Metro-East Merchants will meet the winner of the second game and Victory Tavern will be pitted against Gateway Loans.

Saturday's games will match the winner of game three and game four and the winner of game five will meet the winner of game six in playoffs.

The victors of game seven and eight then will play for the championship. In previous years Rozycki Realty and Hagues Horses have won the series. Rozycki having won the first three years in succession and Hagues being the defending champion.

Steele returns to winner circle

Three former track champions powered their motorcycles around the quarter-mile dirt oval at the Tri-City Speedway Tuesday night, during the American Motorcycle Association sanctioned cycle races, in quest of the 1973 track championship.

Former indoor track champion, Al Steele, Alton, defeated two expert class riders in dominating the time trials with a one lap time of 15.90 seconds.

Neil Keen, St. Louis, 1971 Tri-City champion, and Robert E. Lee, Ft. Worth, Texas, the 1972 champion, were the second and third fastest qualifiers with times of 15.95 and 15.99 seconds.

All three riders were victorious in their respective heat events as Steele defeated Joe Ridgeway, Atlanta, Ga., in the first heat race. Keen crossed the finish line ahead of Mike Ladd, Paducah, Ky., to win the second heat, and Lee captured the third by defeating second place finisher Preston M. Windom of Peoria.

Steele led the twelve-lap feature from start to finish to post a victory over Keen, Ladd and Lee who finished second, third and fourth respectively.

The four lap trophy dash saw Keen and Steele share the lead, each having control for two laps before Keen inched ahead at the checkered flag.

Dave Aldana, Santa Ana, Calif., finished third behind the two. Lee's engine broke at the start of the race.

Aldana had earlier won the fourth heat race, the first semi-feature event, in which Steele finished second, and was in contention in the main event before his bike fell on the third lap. He returned to the race and finished seventh.

Keen led the second semi-feature event all the way to defeat Roger Crump, Pesaca, Ga., for the win.

The event had to be restarted after Don Wiley, 28, Sapulpa, Okla., overturned on the third lap in an attempt to avoid striking the fallen bike of Steve Burgess, Herrin. Burgess had lost control coming out of the fourth corner, and his cycle was blocking the track.

Wiley's machine flipped end-over-end several times before coming to rest against the front straightaway retaining wall. He was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was treated for injuries to his left leg and right shoulder. He declined to be admitted to the hospital.

Other event winners were: Crump, fifth heat; Chris Reitz, consolation race; Keen, second semi-feature, and Lee, third semi-feature.

Motorcycle racing will conclude the 1973 season at Tri-City Speedway next Tuesday evening with time trials at 7 p.m. and the first scheduled event at 8 p.m.

Demolition derby here on Saturday

Tri-City Speedway will host the 1973 Midwest Demolition Derby Saturday, beginning at 8 p.m.

More than 45 cars have entered the event, sanctioned by Auto-Race Promotions of St. Louis, and will vie for more than $1,000 in cash awards.

The object of the event is for each driver to try and knock his fellow driver out of competition by crashing into his auto. The last car left running, able to move under its own power, then is declared the winner.

Janna Kocher marries Stephen Alan Connolly

St. Margaret Mary Catholic Church was the scene of the Aug. 17 wedding of Miss Janna Lou M. Kocher and Stephen Alan Connolly. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Edward Grousch at 7 o'clock in the evening.

Bouquets of blue and white summer flowers adorned the altar, and brass candelabra holding burning tapers lighted the sanctuary.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond F. Kocher, who reside at Villa Belco Negritos Talara, Peru, South America. Mr. Connolly is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Connolly, 2712 Saratoga Ave. Selections of appropriate music were provided by the "New Continentals" from Atchinson, Kan.

For her wedding, the bride, chose a gown of dacton polyester. The high neck was edged with a lace ruffle and the long fitted sleeves featured ruffled cuffs. Venice lace was repeated at the crescent waistline and along the hem of the cathedral length train.

Delicate lace motifs, centered with a pastel blue satin blue bow and rosettes, were applied on the bodice and hemline of the slightly full skirt.

A camelot style headpiece of Venice lace held in place the bridal veil, lavishly bordered with scalloped lace.

She carried an offside crescent bouquet of Sweetheart roses, white orchids and camellia foliage.

Miss Mary Landwehr was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Elizabeth Connolly, sister of the groom, Miss Beverly Moyrce, Miss Bernice Florich and Mrs. Margaret Carroll.

French blue mira mist gowns were worn by the attendants. Their dresses were designed with fitted bodices, high mandarin collars and bishop sleeves. Deep blue velvet trim encircled the waists and a small bow centered the front of the full skirts.

Tiny buttons were placed down the front of the bodice and a narrow ruffle formed a bib effect at the front and back. A deep ruffle was used to create an apron overlay appearance to the long skirts.

The maids carried crescent bouquets of light blue German statice and pale blue carnations, arranged with the royal blue pom poms and greenery. Timothy Connolly, brother of the groom, served as best man. Kevin Carril, James Henry, Kenneth Cors and Richard Koerper were groomsmen. Guests were seated by Richard and Will Connolly, brothers of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Connolly, groom's parents, served rehearsal dinner in their home and a reception was held at the Croatian Home in Madison, Mrs. Timothy Connolly presided over the guest register.

Both the bride and groom attended Benedictine College at Atchinson, Kan. The bridegroom is employed at St. Bridget's Hospital in St. Louis.

After a honeymoon trip in Southern Illinois, the newlyweds will reside in Granite City.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Kocher selected an emerald green gown, full length, enhanced with a jeweled bodice and silver accessories.

Mrs. Connolly, mother of the groom, selected a pink gown fashioned with a chiffon bodice and lace skirt and complemented with white accessories. Each of the mothers wore a cymbidium orchid corsage.

Out-of-town guests were William Chester, Brooklyn, N. Y., grandfather of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. George Price and family of Opa-Locka, Fla.; Sister Rita Mary Phalen of Rockford, Ill.; Sister Elizabeth Marie, an aunt of the groom from Kansas City, Mo.; Kevin Carril, Washington Park, Ill., and Kenneth Cors, Jacksonville, Ill., both of whom are students at Benedictine College; Theresa Landwehr and Beverly Markey, both of Des Moines, Iowa; Margaret Carroll of Kansas City, Mo., and Bernice Florich of Ottawa, Kan.

Venice seniors tour Ste. Genevieve homes

Venice Senior Citizens spent Tuesday in Ste. Genevieve, Mo., where they visited several historic homes and businesses, including the Felix - Valle House, the old Academy, Gubourd-Valle House and Ste. Genevieve Catholic Church and Museum.

Highlighting the chartered bus trip was dinner served at the "Old Brick House," a restaurant and tavern and the oldest brick building west of the Mississippi River.

The structure, built in 1800, was used as the original court house in the district. The historic landmark is furnished in 19th century style and is open to the public as a restaurant. Among those viewing the homes and other sights were Mr. and Mrs. Mathew Blattner, Mr. and Mrs.

Claude Billeby, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Lutz, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Green, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sennett, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Zeigler, Mr. and Mrs. Rube Payne.

Mrs. Rosalie Butler, Emily Cassel, Helen Cholewicki, Ann Cicio, Kathryn Conreux, Mary Deann, Opal Fogle, Mary Grogan, Ann Harlin, Frances Jones, Emily Mainbridge, Florence Musick, Elizabeth Novacek, Mildred Pratt, Marian Rogac, Angela Shambro, Mildred Shifter, Eva Six, Helen Smith, Bess Snell, Maria Tessari, Angie Udel, Rose Zotti.

Also attending the event were Joe Gondolf, William Hines and Ignace Wozniak.

The birthday of Mrs. Conreux was observed during the noon hour and the group sang a song in her honor.

Venice opposes rate hike

The Venice City Council Tuesday night went on record opposing a rate increase that has been requested by the East St. Louis and Interurban Water Co. The council instructed City Clerk William "Mike" Edwards to write the Illinois Commerce Commission and file a formal objection.

The council approved a $3,139 purchase of an electronic surveillance system for the new city jail. The new system would monitor the cell blocks and booking room and would strengthen the police position in court when prisoners created trouble by giving an actual on-scene record of the events.

The council also approved a building permit requested by Mrs. Elvie Hilton for repairing existing property in the 1200 block of Weaver Street. A building permit requested by Willie Radman was rejected pending compliance with building codes.

The police arrest report for the month of July listed 45 adult arrest and 24 juvenile.

Mrs. Edith Henry, 83, dies

Mrs. Edith I. (Dunlap) Henry, 83, of 2821 Edwards St., ill for several years, died at 7:15 p.m. Tuesday at the Madison County Nursing Home in Edwardsville where she had resided for 2½ years.

A native of Bellefontaine, Ohio, she had lived in the Quad-City area 30 years.

Central Christian Church. Her husband, George Henry, died in 1954.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Robert (Mary) Braden and Mrs. Harold (Beatrice) Beck, both of Granite City; six grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Intruders damage residence, garage among other items.

A report of the incident was made at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday by Richard Vocker of St. Louis. Locks on the front door at the dwelling and the garage door were broken to gain entry. A list of missing items is being compiled, police said.

Miss Kay Van Metre and Roy E. Winters are wed

The wedding of Miss Kay La Rue Van Metre, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin E. Van Metre, 2118 Cleveland Blvd., and Roy E. Winters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew L. Winters, 2719 West 22nd St., was solemnized Aug. 18 at the Nameoki United Methodist Church, 1300 Nameoki Road.

Officiating at the double-ring ceremony at 2 o'clock was the Rev. Roy Baugh, pastor of Niedringhaus United Methodist Church, before an altar decorated with arrangements of white summer flowers. Mrs. Dennis Hatchcock presided at the organ, playing a selection of wedding music.

A reception for guests was held immediately following the service at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church Wesley Hall. Attending the guest book were Misses Teri Boss, Susan Hunsinger, Denise Davis, Cathy and Carrie Garner.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown with a full skirt and Empire bodice featuring sheer bell sleeves that extended into full nylon puff sleeves.

A delicate white lace accented the high neckline and edged the hemline.

She wore a tiered bridal veil trimmed in matching lace held in place with a fabric headpiece and carried a colonial bouquet of iceberg white pom poms, white daisy poms and pink Sweetheart roses.

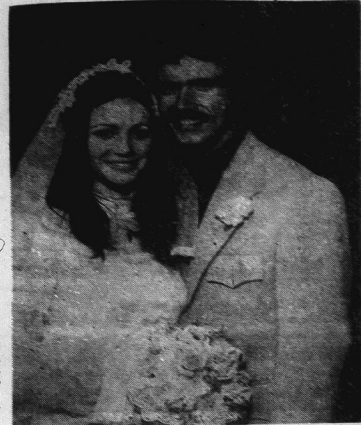

Attending the bride were honor attendant Mrs. Michael Burris and bridesmaids, Misses Linda and Jill Van Metre, sisters of the bride, and Miss Nina Hale.

Their Empire-styled dresses were created in silk organza designed with short sleeves and round necklines in rainbow colors of peach, yellow, purple and aqua.

Each girl wore a picture hat and held a colonial arrangement of various colored pom poms.

The groom chose Dennis McGee as his best man. Groomsmen and ushers included Gary Winters, a brother of the groom, Robert Stevens, William Carter and David and Bruce Van Metre, brothers of the bride.

Venice Vocational School to resume classes Sept. 4

Duane Rankin, director of the Venice Lincoln-Technical School, told the Venice Board of Education last night that he plans to open the school on Sept. 4 and has the funds to operate for one semester.

He still is optimistic about receiving funds from other sources to continue the present payroll.

Board members agreed to permit qualified teachers with seniority to replace other teachers in the Venice School District who have lower seniority ratings. If the teachers who have been at Lincoln decide to return there, the decision will be entirely up to them, board members said.

A report from Lewis Sablin, principal of the Venice High School, listed an enrollment this year of 170 to 175 students.

All financial statements for both schools were approved and $5,000 was transferred from the working cash fund to the building fund for the present

Also approved was a bill of $149 for Mrs. Hazel Smith who attended the Illinois Vocational Home Economics meeting in Chicago.

A bid to repair and clean the typewriters at the schools by Triangle Typewriter Co. was accepted at a price of $14.50 per machine.

Robert Vickers, assistant principal, and Mrs. Shirley Foote, board secretary, will attend a conference on Friday at the Holiday Inn in Edwardsville in relation to the school hot lunch program.

their work at the schools despite a strike against the Southern Illinois Contractors Association (SICA). That strike affects only road projects.

An SICA spokesman today said no meetings have been held since a tentative agreement was reached Friday and none are scheduled. The agreement was rejected by the laborers' membership during the weekend.

The strike against N.L. Industries (National Lead), Hoyt Plant, 16th Street and Cleveland Boulevard by United Steelworkers of America Local 649 was continuing today with no meetings set.

The Steelworkers have been on strike since July 8. Negotiations between N.L. Industries Steel Package Division, 15th and State streets, and Steelworkers Local 1989 resumed yesterday for a half-day session and full days of today and tomorrow.

The Steelworkers there are continuing to work under a contract which expires at 12:01 a.m. Saturday.

Contract negotiations between Teamster Local 618, St. Louis, and the Wholesale Grocery Distributors yesterday failed to produce a settlement in the eight-day old strike by more than 100 grocery truck drivers.

The two parties were scheduled to meet again this afternoon in an attempt to reach a tentative agreement in which wages and fringe benefits are the main issues.

parking areas to the school. He added if all students, parents, school faculty and buses observe the plans, there should not be a traffic problem.

The school district will pay a fee of $50 per month plus liability insurance for the use of Tri-City Speedway as a student parking lot.

Board members agreed to Hube's request for $4,500 to purchase slag for walkways and the entrance roadway for buses, with the condition that the slag will be used later to construct the permanent entrance road.

Also included in Hube's report was a review of the progress on completion of the high school interior. All classrooms are ready and the lower level of the library is usable. The upper portion of the library may not be in use unless the necessary stair railing arrives in time, he said.

The dining area of the cafeteria is completed as is the serving area with most of the food service equipment in place. Hot lunches will not be prepared at the new high school until beginning of the year. Lunches will be brought in from the south high school facilities.

Since the gymnasium floor will not be completely finished by opening day, classes will be held outdoors for approximately four weeks until the gym floor is ready for use.

The girls' locker, rooms should be ready on opening day, but the boys' locker room and the physical education department will not be completed.

During the meeting, the board hired Elvin Lee Hoeft, 2444 Cleveland Blvd., as an assistant programmer and Mrs. Irene Hatcher, 1809 Pontoon Road, as a Class One secretary.

The board also accepted the resignation of Cecilia Mount and Philip Mehic. Both are moving from this area, and hired Catherine M. Cassy, 2234 Lincoln Ave., as a fifth grade teacher at Parkview School.

L. M. Worthen, school treasurer, reported a cash balance in the educational fund of $261,535 at the end of July 31 and in the Junior College fund, a deficit of $107,970 and deficit in the IMRF Fund of $53,087.

Cash balance in other funds includes Transportation, $40,660; Joint Agreement, $6,372; Building Fund, $57,276; Bond and Interest, $5,238; New Construction, $341,049.

Approval was given by the board members to put Central Junior High School on the Granite City Realtors' multiplying listing to sell at a price of $85,000.

the city from 14.5 acres to 34.4 acres and increases the annual lease, to be paid by the city, from $1,685 to $5,525.

The city is to supply sewage treatment services for the installation but may ask that the terms of the agreement be changed after construction of 300 new housing units on the installation is completed.

The agreement also stipulates that the city must meet all pollution control regulations of the Environmental Protection Agency, state agencies and the Department of the Army. Mayor Paul Schuler and Alderman R. E. Robertson, chairman of the city's pollution plant committee, indicated displeasure with some of the stipulations in the agreement.

Schuler said the agreement does not entirely meet his approval "but to get construction started, we have to do something."

Robertson reported that five utility poles on the Army property, owned by the city for power lines to the present treatment plant, were knocked down by the wind during a recent storm. He asked that they be replaced. The council voted to have the city clerk advertise for bids.

The council granted Illinois Power Co. permission to install an underground line in the 2300 block of Logan Street, in the 2400 block of Missouri Avenue, in the 2000 block of 24th Street and in an alley in that area. The work is to be supervised by Street Superintendent Lionel Porzell.

A $23,597 contract for three new trucks was awarded to B. E. Hohl, Inc. of Granite City, not on the basis of low bid but because of the availability of service nearby.

Case Power & Equipment Co. was awarded a $25,876 contract for a crawler tractor among three bidders and Circle M. Trailer Co. of Dixon, Mo., the only bidder for a trailer, was awarded a $3,650 contract.

Seebold Co. of Granite City is to supply a concrete breaker for $4,000, the only bid received.

The trucks, tractor, trailer and concrete breaker are being purchased from federal revenue sharing funds.

Grove Plumbing & Heating Co. of Granite City was awarded a $1,350 contract to install a shut-off valve for City Hall to stop water from backing up in the plumbing and flooding the basement during heavy rains.

The basement, which contains the police department, has been flooded twice this month, causing telephone service to the police to be disrupted about two hours each time.

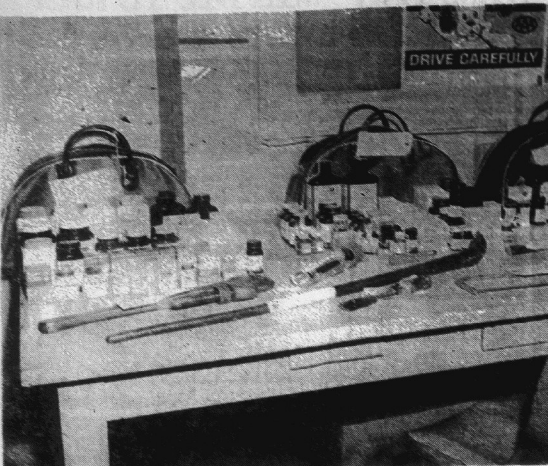

Dempsey Adams Auto Body was awarded a contract to repair an auto damaged by a street department high lift. The repairs were estimated at $800.

The council requested the street superintendent and traffic committee to study replacing or repainting damaged street signs in the city.

Educational goals topic of Rotarians

Ed Edwards, chairman of the Community Advisory Council, spoke on initial drafts of student goals and system goals compiled by his committee for the educational program in Granite City School District 8, at a meeting Tuesday of the Granite City Rotary Club.

The council has been following guidelines issued by the Office of the superintendent of Public Instruction since May 21 and will submit its recommendations to the Granite City School Board for approval.

Delegates who serve on the council and subcommittee are representatives of 17 local civic organizations and will complete all work on the report to be submitted to the state office by Dec. 31.

Walter Milton was program chairman and Joseph Hassler, president, conducted the meeting.

Robert Black gave a report on the Granite City Council meeting he and another member, Christ Paschoff, attended on Monday night.

The president announced the club will begin planning for a Camelot Auction on Oct. 20, to be held at Sunset Hills Country Club as a joint project with the Granite City Optimist Club.

He was born in Perry County, Ill. Mr. Sheriff retired in 1966 from General Steel Industries where he was employed as a superintendent for 40 years.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Wanda Sheriff; a son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Carl (Meriam) Sheriff of Granite City; one step-daughter, Mrs. Kenneth (Dolores) Lane of Granite City; a sister, Mrs. Stella Arnett of Granite City and four grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

'Embajadora' dance to aid Mexican Week event

A public dance will be held at 8:30 p.m. Friday, Aug. 31 at the Venice-Madison American Legion Hall, 704 Broadway, Venice, to help raise funds for the "Mexico Week in St. Louis" event, scheduled to take place Sept. 10 to Sept. 16.

The five-day celebration is being sponsored by the Mexican American Cultural Committee of St. Louis, which includes representatives of the Mexican Honorary Commission of Granite City and other Mexican-American organizations in Missouri and Illinois.

The public is invited to attend the "Embajadora" dance at the Venice hall when eight candidates for the title of "Embajadora" (queen) will be introduced and the winning contestant's name disclosed. The title holder will reign during the September festival.

Admittance to the affair will cost $2 per person at the door and music for dancing will be provided by Miguel Luna and His Orchestra. Mexican food dishes will be available for patrons.

Proceeds from the benefit dance will be used towards paying the living expenses of 30 professional musicians who will travel to St. Louis from Mexico City for the "Mexico Week" celebration. Mrs. Elva Ortiz of Granite City, committee secretary, explained.

The services of the musicians are being contributed by the Mexican Government and their travel expenses will be paid by Mexican Airlines, she noted.

Services held for Clay Nelson

Funeral services will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday at the Northend Baptist Church, Second and Exchange Streets, East St. Louis, for Clay Nelson, 69, of 119 Exchange St.

He died Sunday afternoon at St. Elizabeth Hospital in Granite City.

Attend Slovak Union convention

A list of distinguished speakers, including Cardinal John Carberry, Missouri Governor Christopher (Kit) Bond and St. Louis Mayor John P. Dooley, addressed delegates at the First Catholic Slovak Union's 38th annual convention held in the Khorrassan Room at the Chase-Park Plaza Hotel, St. Louis.

Bernard Janek served as official delegate from Lodge 408 of Granite City at the annual affair.

Other local residents attending were Mrs. Clara Janek, Mr. and Mrs. Albert (Norma) Leach of Mitchell and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph (Laela) Tinko of Madison.

Activities during the four-day convention centered on the election of John J. Sobol of Pittsburgh, Pa., as national president, and the appearance of Missouri Governor Bond and Mrs. Bond at the installation banquet.

A parade to the St. Louis Cathedral for a Slovak Mass, followed with a reception honoring Cardinal Carberry in the Khorrassan Room opened the conference.

The initial business session was keynoteed with a speech by Mayor Dooley and an evening cruise on board the Steamer Admiral, chartered for the occasion, proved a highlight of the convention, Janek said.

Carnival to aid dystrophy fund

John E. Leach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy J. Leach, 3827 Washington Ave., will sponsor a neighborhood carnival to aid the Muscular Dystrophy fund from 1 p.m. until 1 p.m. Saturday at the Leach home.

The youngster, assisted by his parents and friends, Kim and Kathy Mclear and Tony and David Bae, will direct games such as pie toss, ball toss, hole-in-one golf, bowling, fortune telling and wagon and bicycle rides for neighborhood children.

Several youngsters in the Quad-City area are participating in the "Fight Against Muscular Dystrophy" by organizing backyard carnivals to raise funds. Proceeds will be used for research and patient service programs of the Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America. Last year, a total of 38,343 similar carnivals staged across the country enabled over $1,172,061 to be added to the MDAA's research-patient care programs against dystrophy and related diseases, sponsors reported.

GREAT ENDING—cool 'n' Creamy Fruit Flambé can be served as a spectacular ending to an elegant evening of dining.

COOKING CORNER

Fruit dishes ideal for the summer

By SUSAN DELIGHT
Copley News Service

The wealth of colorful fruit now ripening in sun-splashed orchards offers innumerable ideas for cool summer dishes. Fruit can be sliced into a salad and tossed with a tangy dressing, baked in a tart-sweet pie, used as a topping for cakes or ice cream; served as an accompaniment to meat, fish or chicken, or cooked into any one of a number of savory jams, preserves, chutneys, relishes or sauces.

The recipes featured today illustrate a cross-section of fruit's versatility.

COOL 'N' CREAMY FRUIT FLAMBÉ

CRUST:
1 and one-third vanilla wafer crumbs (about 35 1 1/4-inch wafers)
2 tablespoons sugar
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter, melted

FILLING:
1 pint lemon sherbet, softened
2 pints vanilla ice cream, softened

SAUCES:
1/4 cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1/2 cup water
1 cup sliced strawberries
1/2 cup green grape halves
1/4 cup brandy cream; freeze until firm. Just before serving prepare sauce. To prepare sauce: In a one-quart saucepan blend sugar and cornstarch; gradually stir in water and 1/2 cup sliced strawberries. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened; boil two additional minutes. Stir in remaining 1/2 cup strawberries, pineapple and grapes. Heat brandy in small saucepan. Ignite and pour over fruit sauce. Stir to blend liquor in sauce. (Yield: two cups.) Remove ice cream from freezer to refrigerator for a few minutes before serving for easier cutting. Cut into nine squares. Ladle scant 1/4 cup sauce over each serving. Makes nine servings.

FRUIT FONDUE SALAD

1/2 cup orange sherbet
Two-thirds cup salad dressing
1 teaspoon chopped fresh mint
1/2 cup lime sherbet
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
Assorted greens
2 fresh Bartlett pears
Apple slices
Pineapple chunks
Orange sections

Mix together orange sherbet, one-third cup of the salad dressing and all the mint. In another bowl, mix together lime sherbet, remaining one-third cup salad dressing and the lemon peel. Tear greens into bite-size pieces in salad bowl. Halve, core and slice pears crosswise into crescents. Arrange with other fruits on platter. Set bowls of dressings on each end of platter. Let each person help himself to greens and dip fruits into dressings to make his own salad. Makes about six to eight servings.

Ill. State Employment office to move Friday

The Illinois State Employment Service and Unemployment Compensation Division offices in Granite City will move next week to a new location at 1809 Edison Ave. across from Granite City Trust & Savings Bank.

Darrell Stites, ISSS office manager, said the premises currently occupied by the state employment agency at 2050 Iowa St., will be closed Friday, Aug. 31, to permit records and equipment to be moved.

Services will be resumed Tuesday, Sept. 4, at the Edison Avenue location, Stites said. The new quarters were last occupied by the Employment Services' Work Incentive Program, which transferred its headquarters to the Labor Temple Association building on State Street.

The state employment agency has maintained its area office at the corner of Iowa and 21st streets for the past 12 years. Previously, it was located in a former bank building at Niedringhaus Avenue and Cleveland Boulevard.

Stites said the new quarters are not as spacious as the current site, a fact which may require the state agency to relocate in larger offices at a later date. The Iowa Street building has been sold, it was learned, and preparations are being made to remodel its interior. Final plans for the structure have not yet been disclosed.

Rites for former resident

Funeral services were conducted Aug. 14 at the Boone Creek Baptist Church in Licking, Mo., for Mrs. Claretta (Nolan) Byrd, 58, of Licking, formerly of Venice. She died Aug. 10 at the Texas County Memorial Hospital, Houston, Mo.

She is survived by her husband, Clarence Byrd, two sons, Gerald H. Byrd of Carleton, Pa. and Shawn T. Byrd of Licking, Mo.; four daughters, Mrs. Marilyn Hoppes of Gilchrist, Ill., Miss Patricia Byrd of Madison, Mrs. Betty Bradshaw, Leoma, Mo., and Mrs. Raelene Bradshaw of Licking.

Her mother, Mrs. Millie Nolan of Madison; two brothers, J. W. Nolan of Granite City and Harvey Nolan of Belleville; two sisters, Mrs. Dorothy Barnes, Granite City, and Mrs. Nadine LeGrand, Poplar Bluff, Mo., and seven grandchildren. Burial was in the Prescott Cemetery.

City may televise sewers

A contract to inspect the inside of Granite City sewers with a closed circuit television may be awarded in the near future by the Granite City Council, aldermen indicated at Monday night's council meeting.

Leon Portell, Granite City street superintendent, said the ground in several areas near sewers appears to be sinking but the only way to determine if the sewers are collapsing is to inspect with television or excavate.

"With a high water table in the area, excavating has proven to be expensive since the ground has to be dewatered before the sewers can be uncovered. Many well points connected to large pumps have been used to lower the water table around breaks so that repairs could be made."

At Monday night's meeting, the council voted to pay Flinn Ernest (Co. of East St. Louis $44,503 for repairing a major break on Ames Avenue with the majority of the cost for the well point system, pumping and dewatering.

The Office of Emergency Preparedness, which is coordinating the federal government's flood relief efforts, will pay for television inspection of sections where breaks are located but in sections without breaks, the city will have to pay the cost, Portell said.

He said the city estimated the cost of repairing the sewers by excavation and the OEP turned down the estimate and requested the U. S. Corps of Engineers to make a second inspection and estimate.

The Corps made its estimate using the television inspection system and including the cost of swelling all breaks from inside the sewers, without excavations.

Portell explained that supplemental claims can be made to the OEP for breaks requiring excavation to repair. He said time is important so that the survey by television stay ahead of the Flinn Ernest crews which are excavating major breaks.

Minor breaks can be sealed from inside the sewer with a permanent chemical compound applied by the same equipment which inspects the sewers.

Portell said the cost for packing joints with the chemical is $200 for each manhole section for the first two sections and $100 for each additional section. The price does not include the cost of cleaning the sewers, televising or the chemical.

Aldermen said that, although the service was expensive, the total would be far below the cost of excavating at each break. "Time is important and since this is the federal guideline, we need to get the money pretty quickly," one alderman commented.

Portell has received prices from two companies and he and the mayor were requested by the council to contact other companies for prices before a contract is awarded.

In other business, the council was told that the city received $2,420 from the Madison County Circuit Court from July court receipts. The city received $39,590 in July from motor fuel taxes, of which $10,000 was paid to the state, it was reported.

Sales taxes received this month totaled $73,883 from May collections, the aldermen were told.

The council transferred $68,655 from the sales tax fund to the street, city hall, police, inspection, sanitation, humane, municipal retirement and contingency funds.

Bike-car collide, boy hospitalized

Kenneth D. Harper, 38, of 2142 State St., reported to police at 5 p.m. Tuesday that his auto had been in a collision with a bicycle ridden by a young boy at State and 22nd streets.

The bicyclist, Bryan Boss, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Boss, 2152 State St., was admitted at St. Elizabeth Hospital with bruises and scrapes on the forehead and left leg. He had x-rays taken of the skull, spine and leg.

HOOKS POWER LINE

Anthony Lewis, 22, of Arkansas, operator of a tractor-trailer truck, attempted to make a right turn from 21st Street onto Niedringhaus Avenue by driving across a parking area and hooked a traffic signal power line on the truck roof, pulling the wire down, he reported to police at 1:35 p.m. Tuesday.

New law to ban cheap handguns

Gov. Dan Walker Tuesday signed House Bill 1058 outlawing the sale of cheap, dangerous handguns known as "Saturday night specials."

He also signed a bill to enforce more effectively the prohibition against convicted felons owning firearms. Earlier, he signed a bill increasing the penalty after the first offense for carrying concealed firearms and a police education incentive bill.

The "Saturday night special" bill's principal sponsor is Rep. Roman J. Kossinski (D-Chicago). Chief secondary House sponsor was Rep. L. Michael Getty (D-Delton). The bill was sponsored in the Senate by Sen. Richard M. Daley (D-Chicago). Beginning next Feb. 31, the law prohibits the sale of any handgun which melts or deforms at less than 600 degrees Fahrenheit.

That test was written into the law because, generally, low-quality guns are made of metals such as pressed steel filings, zinc alloys and other non-homogeneous metals which melt at relatively low temperatures.

The guns sell for $15 to $30 and constitute one-fourth or more of illegal guns confiscated by local police departments.

A 1968 federal law banned the importing to the United States of "Saturday night specials," but guns of this type are still manufactured domestically.

Their increased use in criminal and juvenile gang activities has become cause for serious alarm among law enforcement officials.

Gov. Walker said: "There is no legitimate use for the kind of handguns being outlawed by the bill I am signing today."

"You don't find them in gun collectors' cases. People don't hunt with them. Law enforcement officers don't carry them. Sharpshooters don't use them for target practice."

"Criminals use them to intimidate and to kill."

"I know of no responsible groups or associations that have opposed this measure. In fact, organized rifle and gun groups were instrumental in getting it passed. And the reason is that the 'Saturday night special' is a gun used solely to commit a crime or to kill."

"At the same time, police and citizens, particularly in the Metropolitan Chicago Area, have been demanding this kind of legislation for years."

"I am certain that this law will save lives."

Johnson School hit by vandals

Extensive paint damage to the interior of Russell D. Johnson Grade School, the work of vandals, was reported to police at 9 a.m. Tuesday by W. Richard Brinkhoff, principal. Brinkhoff said red paint was sprayed on kitchen counters and doors and the tables and doors in the cafeteria. Baking powder was scattered about the floor and work counters in the kitchen area and the contents of fire extinguishers had been sprayed along a hallway. Entry into the building was gained through a kitchen window, police said.

Soaring prices expected to keep going up and up

By EDWARD NEILAN
Copley News Service

WASHINGTON—The American housewife's number of discontent over inflation in general, soaring food prices and shortage of key items shows no sign of improvement.

Forecasts are for higher food prices generally and continued severe shortages of beef. Prices will go up Sept. 12 when the price freeze on beef is lifted.

Beef producers are holding back their product from market, claiming they could make no money under the freeze. Consumers have been feeling the food price pinch all along but most notably since Phase 4 was inaugurated July 18. Biggest increases have been in poultry, eggs and meat.

An uncut chicken, according to a United Press International survey, cost 19 cents more a pound on a recent Tuesday than it did on the previous Saturday in Pittsburgh. A half-gallon of milk went up 12 cents overnight in Columbus, Ohio.

There was even some dark news for housewives who hoped to cream their freezers with "enough steaks to last through the stage."

Dr. Joseph A. Canino, New York City health commissioner, said most home freezers can hold meat safely for only "two or three months." He advised strongly against the practice of storing frozen beef for longer periods. Also, he said, "jamming the freezer with too much meat will cause the freezer to malfunction."

Housewives, in their anger and frustration, looked around for villains, real or imagined.

Among the most frequently mentioned as being "responsible for the high prices and meat shortages" are:

— President Nixon and his economic advisers because of their Phase 4 policies.

— The Russians for buying big orders of American wheat which caused dislocations all along the line in the feed and grain market.

— Big, business-controlled food companies which dominate industries such as breakfast cereals.

— The few corporate middlemen who control distribution to supermarket chains.

— "Greedy" farmers and "elit-hungry" meat-packers.

"Don't buy anything days," boycotts of certain stores and consumer protests of one kind or another are blossoming around the country.

But of all the potential villains on which to focus their ire, the "big food industry conglomerates have become the main targets of the moment."

A few food action campaign is laying the blame on a handful of food companies which it claims has overcharged consumers by as much as $2.1 billion a year.

The drive's main backers—the Agribusiness Accountability Project, New Populist Action, Project on Corporate Responsibility—are hoping to generate shopper feedback that will determine if such corporate concentration of power should be allowed.

Although there are more than 2,000 food manufacturing firms in the nation, the food action campaign claims that about 100 firms control two-thirds of the profits—and thus also control the prices.

Disputing industry's claims that the efficiency of large-scale allows lower prices, former Okla. Gov. Sen. Fred R. Harris, a "man of one of the groups, held up at the campaign's inaugural press conference a 13-cent private-label can of pork and beans and a 17-cent Campbell Soup Co. variety of pork and beans.

"If these giants are right about the efficiency of bigness," he said, "why do their Use insurance for investing?

By JUDITH G. RHOADES
Copley News Service

Q. I have a life insurance policy which has an accumulated cash value (approximately $5,000). Would it be worth my while to take out the cash and pay interest on it (3 per cent) and reinvest the money at a higher interest rate? — S.G., Scottsdale, Ariz.

A. You pose a very interesting question. I discussed this problem with Gordon Melcher of Melcher Capital Corp., consultants in financial planning. As Mr. Melcher stated: "Whether or not a person should borrow their cash values and reinvest them at a higher interest rate, I respond dogmatically: Yes." But his letter did not stop there. He continued with an explanation of a primary insurance philosophy.

Even sophisticated investors and money managers are only now beginning to fully appreciate. That philosophy is the outgrowth of a rather simple but easily forgotten idea that one should use an insurance company to cover his insurance needs and not to hold his savings, pay his son's college fees or pay for retirement. Or, in Mr. Melcher's terms: a $10,000 whole life policy issued at age 35 will have an average premium of $180 per year. The unit cost of life insurance is per $1,000 and at inception would be $18.00-1000. Let's say the insured has paid premiums long enough to build up $5,000 of cash value and he borrows it at 3 per cent interest. He will pay $150 interest + $180 premium for a total of $330. Should he die, the policy will only pay $7,000 or death benefit or a cost of $47.14-1000 of insurance. I know he will be able to purchase if he is insurable, the identical policy from the same company at a lower cost than $47.14 per 1000. What if he doesn't borrow the $5,000 of cash values? Does he eliminate the $180 interest charge? Only if you ignore that "the use of money has value." The only benefit the existing policy offers over a new one is the contestable clause. If he is going to live in his application for a new policy or commit suicide in the next two years, he should retain the existing policy as any new policy will exclude these items for two years. In other words, if you want insurance go to an insurance company. But if you want to invest, do not ask the insurance company to do it for you. Space does not permit a longer discussion of this problem, but if any other of my readers are interested in reading the brochure which I have forwarded to S.G. about insurance, I have a large supply, courtesy of Melcher Capital Corp. Write me in care of this newspaper, requesting the life insurance brochure.

Q. Could you please explain what commercial paper is. I have seen various items in the paper referring to "commercial paper," but not describing it. — S.D.T., Phoenix, Ariz.

A. Commercial paper is the name given to unsecured promissory notes which are issued by large companies such as Sears or Chrysler. Commercial paper is usually issued for a short period of time, ranging from less than 30 days up to a year until maturity. The interest paid on commercial paper is generally higher than that of Treasury bills. As a rule, commercial paper can only be purchased in lots of $100,000, but in some cases, one might be able to purchase in an amount as low as $25,000.

Q. What is meant by the phrase "shakeout"? — B.W., Austin, Tex.

A. Shakeouts refer to sharp market declines, where the smaller or weaker investors leave the market. They are "shakeout." As a side comment, it is a sad note that the small investor is generally so tardy in his reaction to the market, that the professional speculator will often regard the decision of the small investor as a signal to do the opposite. For example, if the trader saw an increase in odd-lot (less than 100 shares) purchase, he would consider it a time to sell his stock. The reverse of this statement would also be true.

Salami passes airport inspection

By FRANK MACOMBER
Copley News Service

If you think the Watergate hearings are uncovering a lot of stuff and things, talk to members of the security force who peer through the baggage and hand-carried luggage of airline passengers.

Ever since Jan. 5, when the government in an anti-jacking move insisted that all passengers and their belongings be screened, a whole new vista has been opened to airline security inspectors.

One inspector reached in a valise and came up with a handful of snakes. Another thought he had found a revolver but it turned out to be a water squirt gun. And how about the passenger who liked crabgrass so well he was taking some home to transplant it in his own lawn?

Every day is an adventure in discovery for airline security people. But the job has its hazards, too. The guards complain, for example, that perhaps the toughest chore they face is rewrapping gifts and other packages after they have inspected them.

Kathy Fain, a United and Hughes West Airlines security inspector, says, "Our biggest problem is unwrapping gifts and other packages the passengers intend to carry aboard, then trying to rewrap them the same way again."

Some passengers get downright indignant if their gift-wrappings aren't as neat and pretty after the inspection as they were before.

Sometimes everyday articles are confiscated by inspectors because they can be turned into weapons. At Sacramento Metropolitan Airport, for instance, an elderly lady was relieved of the long-tipped knitting needles in her knitting bag. A serviceman who wanted to carry two baseball bats to Alaska so he could start a Little League there had to leave them behind.

A United Airlines inspector was about to reach into a passenger's flight bag when the man stopped him.

"There's a rattlesnake in there," he warned. The unbelieving inspector reached in anyhow. Sure enough, there was a rattlesnake. The flight bag was closed hastily and shipped as air freight.

And are you ready for this? Inspectors report that many passengers flying from New York to the West Coast carry whole salami or liverwurst casings in their flight bags. A few foot-long hot dogs have been detected, too. Some passengers have insisted they should not be made to pass before the X-ray because its magnetic field might damage their heart pacemakers. But technicians now have determined the low-dose radioactivity from the security "eye" would have to be 100 times stronger to affect pacemakers.

The same is true for undeveloped film. Antijacking scrutiny of course turns up its share of lethal weapons, too — handguns, knives, even blackjacks. And recently a Chinese couple entering this country was held while inspectors asked laboratory technicians to test what appeared to be a variety of drugs. It turned out they were mixed herbs for tea.

Women turning to gardening

By JAMES M. WOODARD
Copley News Service

Homes with minimal-maintenance yards were the hot sales item a few years ago. While this is still a sought-after feature by some buyers, an increasing number of Americans are developing "green thumbs" — tackling the gardening chores and really enjoying it.

A surprising number of these novice "landscape engineers" are women, like over 35 million of them. In fact, in a recent sample national survey taken of 500 urban and suburban women, it was found that 184 had only recently taken to gardening — 113 started this summer.

Many women are finding that to daily "toil in the soil" can not only enhance the aesthetic attraction of a home and thereby increase its value, it can also be a very effective method of keeping slim and trim.

One industry leader, Joseph P. Sullivan, president of Chicago-based Estmark, Inc., put it this way, "Women have found that gardening is relaxing, pleasurable, therapeutic — and perhaps most important of all, slenderizing."

Statistics show that far from being reluctant to mow the grass, apply fertilizer, rake the leaves and weed the flowers, the majority of women now enjoy handling lawn chores once considered exclusively "man's work," Sullivan said.

"No matter where she lives — town house, apartment or condominium with balcony or terrace, or conventional home with full yard — women are becoming increasingly engrossed in the challenge of gardening," he said.

One disaffectioned thumb devotee expressed this thought: "One just can't worry while being around growing plants. Cultivating the earth while watching a profusion of budding flowers and vegetables helps make cares disappear."

Another pointed out that her teen-age children had been responsible for getting her involved in the gardening bit.

"They were students in a science class with plant life projects. Almost overnight they became budding young horticulturists. Experiments with 'plant conversation' really turned them on — and their enthusiasm rubbed off on me," she said.

It's a good and healthy trend, benefiting everyone. Homes and neighborhoods get a needed face-lift. Values are enhanced. Women enjoy the "return to nature" while helping and watching things grow — with figurative fringe benefits.

Q. What's being done to reduce the sky-high price of lumber?

A. For one thing, the Senate is seriously considering a bill (S. 1175) that would increase harvesting in national forests and could substantially reduce timber costs. It would also limit the exportation of unprocessed timber to amounts considered "surplus" to needs of domestic users (aimed primarily at big Japanese buyers of U.S. lumber and plywood).

Incidentally, towering lumber prices have created a new law violator — the tree-napper. Large trees are being cut down and hauled off to mills by underworld schemers. Some trees bring as much as $1,300.

Q. In what part of the country are families most affluent?

A. The Census Bureau reports median family incomes are now highest in Honolulu, Hawaii, followed by San Jose, Calif.

that to daily "toil in the soil" can not only enhance the aesthetic attraction of a home and thereby increase its value, it can also be a very effective method of keeping slim and trim.

One industry leader, Joseph P. Sullivan, president of Chicago-based Estmark, Inc., put it this way, "Women have found that gardening is relaxing, pleasurable, therapeutic — and perhaps most important of all, slenderizing."

Statistics show that far from being reluctant to mow the grass, apply fertilizer, rake the leaves and weed the flowers, the majority of women now enjoy handling lawn chores once considered exclusively "man's work," Sullivan said.

"No matter where she lives — town house, apartment or condominium with balcony or terrace, or conventional home with full yard — women are becoming increasingly engrossed in the challenge of gardening," he said.

One disaffectioned thumb devotee expressed this thought: "One just can't worry while being around growing plants. Cultivating the earth while watching a profusion of budding flowers and vegetables helps make cares disappear."

Another pointed out that her teen-age children had been responsible for getting her involved in the gardening bit.

"They were students in a science class with plant life projects. Almost overnight they became budding young horticulturists. Experiments with 'plant conversation' really turned them on — and their enthusiasm rubbed off on me," she said.

It's a good and healthy trend, benefiting everyone. Homes and neighborhoods get a needed face-lift. Values are enhanced. Women enjoy the "return to nature" while helping and watching things grow — with figurative fringe benefits.

New MHS bus stops

New stops for school buses serving Madison High School students were announced yesterday by the Madison school administration. Buses for elementary and junior high school students will use the same stops and time schedules as last year. School in Madison begins Monday with a half day and full sessions start Tuesday.

The high school buses will stop at the same times as last year, an administration spokesman said.

Bus 1 will begin at Blair School and then will pickup students at Dunbar School, 2 a.m., will begin at Blair School and then will stop at Market Street and Mercedia Ave.

Bus 3 will bring students from Lee Wright Homes and Bus 4 will pick up students at Viola Jones Homes.

Bus 5 will pick up students along Bend Road and on Route 203 for Eagle Park Acres residents.

Students should be at the boarding location nearest their homes before school and will be returned to their homes at the close of school. Students must return home on the same bus which they ride to school, it was emphasized.

Notice of stops and times will be sent home with students next week, according to the spokesman.

Seat belt laws beat the whistle

By JAMES A. GROTH
Copley News Service

When owners happily slipped into the seats and behind the wheel of their brand new 1973-model cars last September and turned the ignition key for the first time, their eardrums were filled with a little more than just the purr of that new engine.

A shrieking whistle seemed to come from nowhere and a flashing light began blinking wildly on the dashboard imploring him to "Fasten Seat Belts."

And even if the driver happened to have fastened his, the whistle and the flashing light refused to play favorites. It kept right on doing its thing until the passenger — whether it be an adult, child, male, female, dog, cat or sack of groceries — also buckled up.

Well, if you thought that was annoying, just wait until you slip behind the wheel of your new 1974 model when it comes out next month.

Now, laws have been passed that you won't even be able to start the ignition until all belts are buckled. And, if you think you can just buckle up, start the car, then take off the belts, you've got another thing coming. Because that's when the whistle and the blinking light come right back at you again.

Unlike the 1973 models, the 1974 system has been put together in such a way that it is virtually impossible to disconnect the system without a mammoth bill.

The use of seat belts certainly has been proved to be more than an admirable trait. Statistics bear out the fact that the use of belts does save lives and lessen injuries.

However, there must be a better way than these mechanical devices that have proved to be more of a nuisance than anything else. No matter what happens, there are going to be people who do not use their seat belts. You can feed them with statistics, show them gory pictures of accidents and fatalities that could have been avoided by their use but law enforcement agencies have not shown, however, that the gadgetry required in the United States to enforce seat belt use has done much good at all. Driver and passenger fatalities are at an all-time high and drivers' nerves are being shattered by those high pitched whistles and blinking lights. After all, have you tried strapping in the family dog?

It seems about time that state legislatures begin adopting mandatory seat belt laws and that law enforcement agencies begin enforcing them and let's forget about all these gadgets that simply annoy car drivers and do little else.

In Australia, where the laws have been in effect longer, driver and passenger fatalities also have dropped off considerably. Statistics have not shown, however, that the gadgetry required in the United States to enforce seat belt use has done much good at all. Driver and passenger fatalities are at an all-time high and drivers' nerves are being shattered by those high pitched whistles and blinking lights. After all, have you tried strapping in the family dog?

It seems about time that state legislatures begin adopting mandatory seat belt laws and that law enforcement agencies begin enforcing them and let's forget about all these gadgets that simply annoy car drivers and do little else.

Rule explained for proof of age

By FRANK CORRICK
Copley News Service

Q. I recently filed my claim for Social Security Retirement benefits and they really gave me a hard time. I had my marriage certificate, my union card and a driver's license — all showing my date of birth — but they made me write for my birth certificate. I think they should have accepted what I had when I filed. — R.B.D.

A. Social Security has one basic rule regarding proof of age. If there is a birth or baptismal record that was established before your fifth birthday, that record must be obtained. If there is no birth or baptismal record prior to age 5, then other evidence of age may be used.

Q. What are the reasons for leaving life insurance proceeds in trust? — C.R.

A. Here is what the Wells Fargo Bank's trust department has to say:

"The primary reason for purchasing life insurance is often to provide financial security for family members in the event of the insured's premature death."

"While the amount of life insurance that an individual owns is important, the way in which the proceeds are paid is equally important in achieving the individual's objectives. Unfortunately, where insurance is left outright or under the options, the arrangements frequently fails to achieve the intended purpose."

"On the other hand, when a property owner leaves his life insurance in a carefully drawn trust in which we serve as the trustee, he can be certain that his family will receive (1) professional investment management, (2) flexible protection to meet the beneficiaries changing needs and objectives and (3) the intangible benefits that flow from personal contact with a qualified, experienced and concerned trustee."

Q. My mother-in-law broke her hip and wants to know how she can go about filing a disability claim. She is 83, is getting Social Security and is covered by Medicare. — B.D.V.

A. Since your mother-in-law's disability occurred after age 65, there are no disability payments due. Payments on account of disability are made only if the disability occurs prior to age 65. At age 65 the disability payments, terminate and are replaced by old age or survivor payments.

Q. Since we are now living in the East but expect to retire and move to Arizona, how may we choose the proper location? — W.R.

A. Write to the Chamber of Commerce in Phoenix, Ariz. and ask them about the various climates, businesses, medical and hospital services, recreation, transportation and recreation activities that are available, and particularly helpful in the communities where many new friends will be recognized.

Q. How many people become entitled to Social Security benefits each year? — S.Y.

A. At the end of January, 1973, monthly benefits were payable to 28.5 million people. This represents an increase of 1.2 million over the corresponding figure for January, 1972.

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS HONERKAMP. They exchanged wedding vows at St. Dominic Catholic Church in Breesee, Ill. She is the former Miss Diane Huelsmann, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert G. Huelsmann of Breesee.

Diane Huelsmann becomes Mrs. Thomas F. Honerkamp

The marriage of Miss Diane Rose Huelsmann and Thomas Frederick Honerkamp was solemnized at 1:30 on the afternoon of Aug. 18 at St. Dominic Catholic Church in Breesee, Ill.

Music for the service was furnished by Karen Easthart and Allan Bogovich. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. John Palmer.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert G. Huelsmann of Breesee, Ill. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Honerkamp of Tooele, Utah, formerly of this area.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the former Miss Huelsmann wore a pure white organza gown designed with an Empire bodice, sheer yoke and high neckline.

Her gown was lavishly appliqued with Chantilly lace motifs, etched with pearls and featured long full shepherds sleeves and an A-line full sweep detachable train that fell gently from the waistline.

She wore a band of orange blossoms to secure her floor length veil of imported bridal illusion. Her bouquet was a cascade of white miniature carnations, yellow roses and mixed garden flowers.

The maid of honor was a sister of the bride, Miss Janet Huelsmann, and the bridesmaids included another sister, Miss Joan Huelsmann and Miss Debbie Ross and Miss Sally Mercer.

The attendants and flower girl, Mary Kay Huelsmann, a sister of the bride, were dressed alike in maine organza frocks made in Empire style.

White Venice lace edged the square necklines, and short puff sleeves and defined the high rise waistlines. They wore maize yellow picture hats and carried nosegays of mixed garden flowers and baby breath festooned with avocado velvet streamers. The flower girl carried a basket of flower petals.

Gary Honerkamp, a brother of the groom, served as best man. Dennis Huelsmann, the bride's brother, James Rotter, Joe Mercer and Roger and Richard Huelsmann, twin uncles of the bride, completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception and dance were given at the American Legion Hall in Breesee.

The rehearsal dinner was served at the Wil-Char Restaurant in Breesee. After a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the newly married couple will reside in Collinsville.

The bride is a 1969 graduate of Mater High School in Breesee and received a bachelor's degree in special education from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. This fall she will continue her position as a preschool teacher at Signal Hill School in Belleville.

The groom graduated from Granite City High School in 1967 and served two years with the U.S. Army, including a tour of duty in Vietnam. He is now a senior at SIUE, majoring in special education and is employed with the SIUE Security Office.

Progressive Class to present gifts

The Progressive Sunday School Class of Second Baptist Church made plans to send a fruit basket to a member residing at a Collinsville nursing home and a gift to Mrs. Eva Farrell, who is a patient at St. Elizabeth Hospital, during a meeting Monday evening.

Members met in the home of Mrs. Lena Stevens, 2115 Illinois Ave. Mrs. Eileen Phillips opened the meeting with prayer followed by hymns, with Mrs. Nina Duggan at the piano.

Mrs. Georgia Mitchell presented the devotional and class members recited verses taken from Psalm 23. Lessons and shut-ins were Mrs. Lois Jones, Mrs. Melva Roberts and Mrs. Naomi Roney.

Refreshments were served by the hostess to those named and to Mesdames Lena Bonniar, Tillie Naylor, Alene Higgins, Dena Watson, Naomi Burnett and Louise Mitchell, a guest.

Miss Teresa D. Gonzales marries Ralph A. Rojas

Miss Teresa D. Gonzales, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Gonzales, 3133 Maryville Road, and Ralph A. Rojas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jose Rojas, 1738 Olive St., were united in marriage on Aug. 11 by the Rev. Robert Becker.

Bouquets of red and white flowers blanketed the altar of St. Margaret Mary Catholic Church for the double ring ceremony, performed at noon.

Miss Maribeth Lockhart, organist, played "We're Only Just Begun," "For All We Know," "Ave Maria," and "The Wedding Song."

A gown of Chantilly lace was worn by the bride created with a sash and neckline and Victorian sleeves tapered to points at the wrist. The fitted bodice formed a V effect at the waistline and beading added interest to the scalloped lace edging the neckline and sleeves.

Her bouffant skirt of Chantilly lace tiers, edged with lace collar, terminated in a chapel length train and she wore a mantilla veil bordered in lace to match her gown.

Mrs. Penny Rojas, sister-in-law of the groom, served as matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Sandy Lockhart and Miss Nancy, Pelson.

The flower girl was Monica Rojas, a niece of the groom, and John Gockil Jr. served as ring bearer.

The attendants and flower girl wore identical dresses fashioned of white chiffon and dotted Swiss. The Empire style bodices of chiffon were trimmed in lace and featured standup lace collars.

Brilliant red satin sashes encircled the waistline of the full length skirts of blue dotted Swiss. Each wore a white picture hat accented with red bands and carried a nosegay of red and white carnations and baby breath, festooned with long red satin streamers.

Ralph Martinez was best man and the groomsmen and ushers included Carl Gomez, John Bevis, Mike Bueke and Dave Hanson.

A rehearsal dinner was served at the Ponderosa Steak House, and a reception was held at Temple's Samogardner immediately following the ceremony.

The bride attended Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, majoring in pathology and audiology.

Mr. Rojas attends the University of Missouri at Rolla, where he is an active member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity. He will begin a cooperative work-study schedule for John Deere Co. in Moline, Ill., this fall, returning to the University of Missouri in January.

The groom's mother chose for the wedding a powder blue length gown worn with white accessories. Each mother wore a white orchid corsage.

Gardenaires discuss Lewis and Clark park

Mrs. William Long of Pin Oak Road, Edwardsville, entertained the Gardenaires Garden Club, last week at her home, serving a dessert course to eight members.

Mrs. C. E. Eads, president, conducted the business meeting and roll call was answered with pertinent information on the shrub — hydrangeas.

The Mini-Garden Information Center at the Granite City Public Library was discussed. The display for the month of August is "State Parks — Lewis & Clark Park featured."

Of special interest is the fact that Lewis and Clark were to collect plant specimens for President Jefferson and take them back to Washington D.C. It is also historically significant with the convales today and tomorrow on the riverfront.

Mrs. Earl Glenn, Illinois EIP chairman, was notified by Sears, Roebuck & Co. and the National Council of State Garden Clubs, Inc., that a promotional idea developed by her for the Illinois Environmental Improvement Program will be included in the National EIP Seminar to be held in Washington D.C. and Denver, Colo., in September. EIP state chairmen nationwide submitted promotional ideas. Mrs. Glenn's idea was one of the two selected.

Secretary Mrs. A. A. Malotki

read letters of appreciation from Mrs. William J. Hedley, second vice president of the National Council of State Garden Clubs, Inc., and Mrs. LaVerne N. Cummings, Illinois World Gardening chairman, regarding Gardenaires participation in the World Gardening Project.

Four hundred and two vegetable and flower seed packets were sent to Belen, Para, Brazil, for use of 4-11 club children.

Charter member Mrs. Abe Shannon presented the club with a gift of name plates to be affixed to the dried flower pictures which the club constructs for sale to underwrite their civic projects.

The program for the day was presented by Mrs. Long and was entitled "The Influence of Flowers and Foliage in China & Porcelain." Members exhibited many pieces of floral patterned china.

After the meeting, a late afternoon walk was enjoyed as the hostesses guided the ladies over the grounds and wooded area around her home.

Others present were Mrs. Jerry Arbiter, Mrs. Charles Kobi and Mrs. Mary Kristian. The club's next meeting will be Sept. 19 with Mrs. Alex Tarpoff.

SIUE Librarian Has 40 Varieties Of Fruits, Vegetables in Garden

John Abbott, director of Lovejoy Library at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, cites several reasons for planting an experimental fruit and vegetable garden in his backyard. His favorite is, "A defense against my wife's suggestion we build a swimming pool."

The SIUE librarian tempers this excuse with a mischievous smile. The "real" reason, he says, is a knee operation last spring which hampered his tennis playing and jogging. "I had to do something while I was recuperating."

"Cornucopia Estates," which Abbott calls his garden plot, covers about 2,000 square feet and includes more than 40 kinds of fruits and vegetables. If you count varieties, the number goes to 160. He has six kinds of lettuce, four kinds of peppers and two kinds of cucumbers, one a burpless variety so large it is sometimes mistaken for zucchini squash. The red chili is more than seven feet tall. As one vegetable ceases to bear, he plants another.

"Everyone should try raising kohlrabi," the Lovejoy Library director maintains. "Its taste is similar to turnips, except sweeter, and it can be cooked several ways or cut up raw in salads."

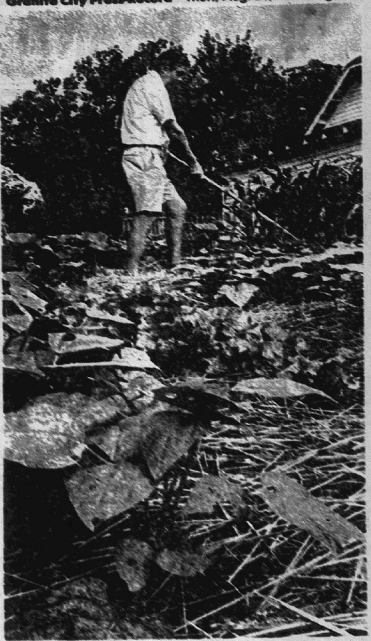

Not only the Abbott family but members of the library staff and other friends are enjoying his kale, Swiss chard and other staples. The novice gardener finds eggplant especially easy to grow. "From two plants, I'll have plenty for home consumption and plenty to share," he says.

He does admit, however, to some failures. "I planted 200 seeds of corn and only two came up. My second planting is doing better. My onions didn't do so well. I'm afraid my soil isn't ready for root crops."

The SIUE librarian doesn't worry too much about the squash and the squash is trying to outdo the pumpkins. The plants which give him the most headaches, he says, are "the dammitas," those he can't readily identify.

Abbott doesn't claim to have saved much money with his productive hobby, but one could have a profitable garden, he says, "by concentrating on a high proportion of such things as snap beans, lettuce, summer squash and other vegetables which take up little space and yield well. For example, my two hills of cucumbers will produce four or five times more than we need."

Next year Abbott plans to increase his garden plot 50 percent.

John Abbott, director of Lovejoy Library at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, calls the fruit and vegetable garden in his backyard "Cornucopia Estates." Among the 40 kinds of plants are beans (foreground), Swiss chard and red okra (background), which is more than seven feet tall. Abbott heavily mulched his garden with straw to keep down weeds and to retain moisture in the soil. As the straw decomposes, it adds nutrients to the soil.

Steel output sets July record

Domestic steel production continued at a record-breaking pace during July, according to preliminary American Iron and Steel Institute data.

AISI reported that the nation's steel output totaled 12,287,000 tons during the month. This was a slight drop from June's 12,488,000-ton performance—but it was still the highest July steel production ever.

In the same month of 1972, domestic steelmakers poured 12,241,000 tons.

Of the 12,287,000 tons produced in July of this year, 6,925,000 tons came from basic oxygen furnaces; 3,354,000 tons from open hearths and 2,128,000 tons from electric furnaces.

Through the first seven months of 1973, U.S. production of steel had reached 87,824,000 tons. Of this total, basic oxygen furnaces poured 46,491,000 tons. Open hearths contributed 23,583,000 tons, while electric furnaces contributed the remaining 15,831,000 tons.

During the same period of last year, domestic steel output totaled 76,414,000 tons, of which 42,748,000 tons were made in basic oxygen furnaces.

20,268,000 tons in open hearths, and 13,387,000 tons in electric furnaces.

AISI's steelmaking index, based on average 1967 production as 100, stood at 113.7 in July. This compares with 118.4 in June and 121.9 in May.

Pollution hearing Monday

A hearing will be held Monday at Edwardsville before Circuit Judge Harold Clark for the Granite City Air Pollution Control Board to show why a writ of prohibition should not be made permanent.

A temporary writ was issued March 23 by Chief Judge Fred P. Schuman on application of Granite City Steel Co.

The writ ordered the Granite City Board to desist in further proceedings against the steel company for alleged violation of city and state air pollution control regulations pending the hearing in circuit court.

The board has set a public hearing in April in response to formal complaints filed against the company on Feb. 2 by Erwin C. Roelsch, secretary to the board. The complaints cited alleged air pollution violations at the coke ovens and the basic oxygen furnace facilities.

The Granite City Board is one of only three municipal air pollution control agencies in the state of Illinois which are partially supported by federal funds. The others are Chicago and Cook County. Municipal programs require state approval prior to federal funding.

The current membership of the board includes Henry Bienenick, chairman, Dr. Melvin Freedman, Charles Rudder, Alderman Sam Whitmer, William Rotter, Dr. Goni Michaeloff and Robert Kinn.

The hearing is scheduled to start at 9:30 a.m. in the Courthouse at Edwardsville.

Madison Senior Citizens band plays at state fair

Floyd Gallitner, president of the Illinois Council of Senior Citizens, after hearing the Madison Senior Citizens Band play at a meeting of the Anchorage Senior Citizens group, invited the group to play at the State Fair at Springfield. A bus was secured and the group attended the fair with a number of instruments made of wash boards, wash tubs, strainers, pots and pans. Mrs. Andrew Bridick played the piano and Ignace Weiss the violin.

After playing for 20 minutes and listening to several more bands from the area, the group was presented with a plaque reading "Illinois State Fair Golden Age Kitchen Band" with a space to be engraved "Madison Senior Citizens Band."

They also received a cash donation. Each of the bands received plaques.

Pictures were taken during the event. Mrs. Dorothy Bridick, Mrs. Shifter and Clarence Green, president of the club, have had many requests for the band to play at various organizations and clubs.

Missing kids can call home now

Rev. Roger Hayden of the Haven Green Baptist Church in Ealing, England, has instituted an "alive and well" service through which missing teen-agers can call parents to let them know they're OK without revealing their whereabouts.

Hayden's own foster daughter left home a year ago, and he hopes a similar system will be established throughout the country.

Bicycle club plans ride

The Great River Riders Bicycle Club will lead a 30-mile bicycle ride up the Great River Road to Principia College at Elsah, Ill., Sunday.

The public has been invited to take part in the event which will be paced according to the ability of the riders in both fast and slow groups.

Riders have been asked to take a sack lunch, water and a few tools for their bicycle in case repairs are needed. A sag wagon also will carry equipment, water and first aid supplies.

A tour of Principia College will be taken after eating lunch on the campus. Leaders of the ride have suggested riders wear comfortable clothing and to make sure their bikes are in good working order. The group will meet at the Nameoki Village parking lot for the sign up at 9:30 a.m., departing at 10 a.m. Fee for the ride will be 50 cents which will include insurance coverage, sag wagon service, first aid and a map of the ride.

Ride leaders said they hope riders who have been active this summer will take part in the ride. Kent Dunn, physical and membership director of the YMCA, will be trip leader.

Maps will be furnished to the riders. General direction of the ride will follow the Great River Road toward Alton, which provides a good shoulder for bicycle riding. All safety rules will be observed.

Gas cutbacks likely

Illinois Power Co. announced Tuesday there will be no general release of natural gas this fall for residential applications under the priority system, approved by the Illinois Commerce Commission, for customers of Illinois Power Co.

A combination of weather and right-of-way difficulties have prevented completing additional injections of gas into the company's Shanghai storage field and also the completion of facilities to allow initial injections into the new Hillsboro field.

Completion of these facilities in 1974 may allow more residential gas released for the next heating season, C. W. Wells, vice-president of the company, said.

Wells said that additional reductions in natural gas deliveries by pipelines to the company and the priority system being used by the Federal Power Commission will result in severe cutbacks in service in the next winter season to industrial customers who are served on interruptible rates.

Those customers have been warned of the impending shortage and have been asked to stock up on alternate fuels for their operations, Wells said.

Interruptible customers are those who in times of cold weather and high gas usage, or short supply, can be cut off from gas service so that firm lipdustrial and residential customers can continue to be served.

Industrial customers on interruptible rates face the possibility of no natural gas for up to 175 days this winter in some sections of the 15,000 square miles of Illinois served by Illinois Power Co., Wells said.

"These customers have been told of the possibility and urged to lay by alternate fuels, such as oil and propane," Wells said. "We realize that such fuels are also in short supply and that only most diligent efforts in this regard in the part of some industries can keep them operating at certain winter periods."

This is a very tight situation. The public in general should be aware of the serious nature of the gas supply as it affects industry and employment."

Granite City Press-Record

Thurs., Aug. 23, 1973 Page 33

Existing residential, commercial, and industrial customers served under firm gas contracts will be served as they have in the past barring some unforeseen circumstances, the company said. Most gas-drying operations in Illinois Power territory are on firm rates, it was pointed out.

CHICAGO, formerly the Chicago Transit Authority, is expected to attract the largest crowd in the history of the Mississippi River Festival Saturday night. The seven members have set attendance records throughout the world.

SIUE dental clinic to open

The dental clinic of the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville School of Dental Medicine will be opened to the public on Thursday, Sept. 6, according to Dr. James D. Harrison, associate dean for education.

Located on the Alton campus at College Avenue and Annex Street, the clinic will be open from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, with the exception of holidays and break periods between academic years. Free parking will be available for patients at the University's lot at Worden and Leverett streets.

Dr. Marvin Reynolds, newly appointed director of clinics, said the school has more than 100 persons on a treatment waiting list, and anyone interested in clinical services may call or stop at the clinical offices before Sept. 6 for an appointment.

Dr. Harrison said fees will be comparable to the charges made at public clinics operated by other dental schools. Generally, the charges are less than the fees of dentists in private practice.

MRF in final concert week

Concerts by Kenny Rogers and The First Edition, Chicago, Pat Boone & Family, Bette Midler and Crosby & Nash will conclude the 1973 season for the Mississippi River Festival.

The concerts, starting tomorrow and continuing through Wednesday, Aug. 29, all begin at 8:30 p.m. on the MRF site on the campus at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Kenny Rogers and The First Edition, who will appear Friday, have stayed at the top of the recording and concert field since 1967 when they broke off from The New Christy Minstrels to form their own group.

Two seasons ago they became the first pop-rock group to host its own syndicated prime-time television show: "Rollin' with Kenny Rogers and The First Edition" is seen weekly in St. Louis. Among their numerous hits are "The Ballad of Calico" which was also a best-selling album, "Rescue Me" and "Baby, Don't Take Your Love To Town."

The Chicago concert Saturday is expected to attract the largest crowd in the history of the festival.

Chicago is an experimental band musically. Although its members unite to perform as a group, each man is an individual musically. Historically, as well as musically, Chicago was born in the city of the same name.

The backgrounds of each of the seven members of Chicago have influenced the others. James Pankow was schooled in the classics, then developed an interest in jazz that led him to the big bands, and finally to rock.

Terry Kath, has broadened his rock beginnings to include the classical influence fostered by Pankow. Robert Lamm brought grandeur and grace that he developed when he sang in a church choir.

Trumpet player Lee Loughnane once played country-western music in an Irish Show Band and has contributed a feeling of simplicity to the group. Walt Parazalde studied jazz and classical clarinet.

Bass player-vocalist Peter Cetera began in rock also, and has expanded his horizons after joining Chicago. Drummer Daniel Seraphine studied music on a formal basis while playing in rock bands and listening to jazz.

The group started with the name of the Big Thing. When they left Chicago, moving to Los Angeles, they changed the name to Chicago Transit Authority. The group toured Europe in 1971 and went to Japan and Australia in 1972, playing to record audiences.

In addition, the members have become leaders in the movement among entertainers to register newly-enfranchised young voters. They conducted voter registration at their concerts for a year preceding the November, 1972 election.

Their newest album is "Chicago 5".

Pat Boone, who will appear at the Festival Sunday, is one of the few entertainers who has sustained his success. He has been represented on the recording charts for more than 200 consecutive weeks, and he has had 60 songs on the charts during his career. His longest running hit, "Love Letters," stayed on the charts 34 weeks and remained no. 1 for five consecutive weeks.

Boone was born in 1934 in Jacksonville, Florida, and as a child practiced harmonizing with his brother, Nick. He sang in local amateur shows, emceed a high school talent show on radio for more than a year, and won top honors on the Ted Mack Amateur Hour as well as the Arthur Godfrey Talent Scout Show.

In the fall of 1954, he signed with Dot Records and recorded several successful hits. In 1955 he joined the Godfrey show in New York. He completed his college requirements for a B.A. degree in Speech and English (which he had begun at North Texas State College) at Columbia University, graduating Magna Cum Laude.

In 1956, he signed a contract with Twentieth Century Fox, and has since combined a movie and television career successfully.

Now, Pat, his wife, Shirley, and their four daughters appear throughout the country together in a blending of talent that has won high praise from entertainment critics.

Bette Midler, who will appear Tuesday, Aug. 28, sings rock 'n' roll, torch songs, rhythm and blues, old time blues, sophisticated show tunes and nostalgic musical oldies.

Bette was reared in Hawaii and moved to New York after earning money as a movie extra playing a missionary in "Hawaii." After playing Jewish revues in the Catskills, she landed a chorus job in "Fiddler on the Roof" and graduated to the role of Truitt. From there she went to off-Broadway shows and to night clubs.

Her recent nightclub appearances have been at Upstairs at the Downstairs in New York; Mister Kelley's in Chicago; The Sahara in Las Vegas; and the Troubadour in Los Angeles.

Folk-rock artists David Crosby & Graham Nash will perform at the Festival on Wednesday, Aug. 29, replacing the originally scheduled Jefferson Airplane concert. Formerly teamed with Stephen Stills, who appeared at the Festival earlier this season, the group has such hits as "Woodstock" and "Carry On."

More recent hits by Crosby & Nash include "Southbound Train," "Frozen Smiles" and "Games."

Concert goers are reminded that the 1973 Mississippi River Festival Season will involve an extensive effort on the part of the University and Festival employees to strictly enforce

Everything just falls in place for Eagles

By JUDY HUGG
Copy News Service

"We usually decide those things on the spur of the moment, but I'm sure we'll do stuff from our new album that we've never performed on television before," said Don Henley of the Eagles, who will appear on the Dr. Pepper TV special "Good Vibrations From Central Park" on Aug. 23.

"As for our part in the special, we've left it mostly up to our manager to handle," he said in an interview. "However, we'll be backed by a string section on the cuts 'Desperado' and 'Desperado Reprise.' We'll also do 'Tequila Sunrise' and maybe a couple of others from the LP."

"The initial idea, as I understand it, was to have the stage decorated in a desert setting with cactus and stuff like that adding to the atmosphere. You know, television people are just getting into rock shows but I think the sound should really be great on 'Good Vibrations' because the Clair Brothers are handling it and they are one of the best in the United States."

The Eagles, who are rising fast to stardom, have been together for only two years and in that time have produced two LPs. The first one, called simply the "Eagles," shot to the top of the charts and contained three hit singles, a rarity in itself. Now they have "Desperado" on Asylum Records with its title cut and "Tequila" doing very well also.

The latest album is different from the first in that it's not nearly as commercial, but Don thinks it will probably sell more in the long run because people are just now beginning to understand its symbolism and the metaphor involved.

The group came together as a result of all having worked at one time or another with Linda Ronstadt.

"Actually Glenn Frey and I were playing with her when we decided to form our own band. So we set about trying to find two other members who would work well with us," Don recalled.

"As it happened, Randy Meisner came around one night and sat in on bass guitar just for kicks. He was in the process of leaving Rick Nelson's band so we talked him into joining us. That made three so we started auditioning guitar players."

"Although we tried many, many players, we just couldn't find the one we wanted. Then one night while playing with Linda down at Disneyland, Bernie Leadon wandered in and we asked him to jam with us. He had just left the Burrito Brothers and was at loose ends so he also joined us. It seems that everything fell together perfectly as these people just happened to show up at the right place and time."

When asked about the name Eagles, Don chuckled and said that it was just something else that sort of happened.

"It's really hard to come up with a decent name 'cause everything has been done," he said. "But we wanted something simple and easy to remember. At the time Bernie and Glenn were reading a lot of Indian books about mythology and so on, plus all of us are crazy about the desert. You know, the eagle was a pretty important symbol in Indian mythology, for it carried the prayers of the men to the Sun God for he was the creature that flew the highest. We liked the idea of being the highest, so Eagles it was."

"And Glenn, who comes from Detroit, liked it because it sounded like some punk street gang from there. Anyway I think the band makes the name, the name doesn't make the band 'cause if you're good you can call yourself anything."

Future plans for this country-rock oriented group include a couple of film scores and some heavy concert dates. Their producer, Glyn Johns, has been offered a film to do and he will have complete control over who writes and performs all the songs, so they'll get a shot at that in addition to a deal that's in the works for the score to "All My Friends Are Going To Be Strangers."

"You know, I think writing film scores should be a lot easier than writing songs, which, by the way, everybody in the band does," Don said. "For one thing, you already have some sort of an image to go by; it's not something you have to pick off the top of your head. But that is all ahead of us. Right now we are concentrating on the Dr. Pepper special so that we can look good and sound even better, and if 'Desperado' or 'Tequila' aren't hits — well, we'll just sit down and write some more."

Armyworms hit corn fields

By WARREN W. BUNDY
U. of I. Extension Adviser

Fall armyworms continue to feed on corn in several fields in Madison county.

They feed on the top leaves of the plants, and in the whorl of late-maturing corn, and make the leaves quite ragged in appearance.

Armyworms are selective of the field in which they lay eggs and prefer late-maturing corn.

Usually the feeding done by fall armyworms in corn causes more harm than is justified.

However, a few fields here have been sprayed in which treatment probably was justified.

Infestations will continue until fall as new generations are produced. Generally, the damaged plants are not killed but recover and produce a near normal yield. Therefore, the benefits from control have been somewhat questionable.

If 30 per cent or more of the corn plants are infested and the worms are less than one and one-fourth inches long, control is probably justified.

Carbaryl, gardona, or toxaphene at one and a half pounds per acre or diazinon at 1 pound are effective. Sprays are effective when they reach the worms. If the worms are deep in the whorl, granules are generally more effective.

Wait five days after applying gardona and 10 days after applying diazinon before sowing the corn. Do not feed toxaphene-treated corn as forage to dairy cattle or livestock fattening for market.

Some soybean fields that are

Granite City Press-Record

extremely weedy will pose harvest problems.

A defoliant, or desiccant, is occasionally needed on soybeans before harvest, primarily when the growth of weeds has been excessive and the crops are near maturity.

If a desiccant is used on soybeans before they are nearly mature, the yield and quality will be reduced. The extent of this reduction is directly related to the stage of maturity.

Desiccants will not make weeds disappear. The coarse, stiff stems of weeds, such as jimsonweed, velvetleaf, and cocklebur will remain—as well as the waxy stems of grasses such as fescue. However, a desiccant can dry the weeds to make harvest easier and reduce damage.

By the time soybeans are mature, weeds have already taken their toll. Also, the desiccant is not likely to reduce the viability of weed seeds already mature.

Parquat is registered as a harvest aid for drying weeds in soybeans. It may be applied when beans are fully developed when at least half of the leaves have dropped and remaining leaves are turning yellow. If applied before beans are fully developed, yield reductions can result.

The recommended rate is one-half to one pint per acre on a broadcast basis. Use the higher rate on cocklebur. Use the suggested rate in 20 to 40 gallons of spray per acre for ground application, or in two to five gallons per acre for aerial application.

Add one quart of a non-ionic surfactant per 100 gallons of spray. Do not pasture livestock within 15 days of treatment, and remove livestock from treated fields at least 30 days before slaughter.

Fertilizing alfalfa adequately and observing recommended cutting dates can help minimize the severe freezing damage we suffered in so many alfalfa fields last winter.

Plan alfalfa harvest so the last cutting before frost is made about Sept. 20.

To maintain a vigorous stand through the winter, alfalfa needs time to build up a high level of sugars and starches in the roots before cold weather.

Following harvest new growth begins to deplete food reserves stored in alfalfa roots, and the plants don't begin to replenish root food reserves until regrowth is complete.

Fertilizing in late summer or early fall also helps strengthen alfalfa plants for winter survival. Potassium is an important nutrient for winter hardiness, but don't overlook phosphorus.

You can harvest alfalfa after a killing frost in late October or early November on well drained soils. But if heavy is a potential problem, it's best to skip this late fall harvest or replace the forage removed with a ton or more of straw or straw manure per acre. The mulch left on the soil will help reduce the frequency of freezing and thawing that cause heaving.

Tax multiplier policy clarified by state

Frank Kirk, director of the Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs, announced this week that "unless there are wide variations in assessment levels from the previous year, each county will receive the same multiplier (county equalization factor) as last year."

He said the announcement is intended to clarify the department's policy for numerous county boards of review still in session and engaged in setting countywide levels of assessment.

Kirk said two factors influenced the decision. First, wide disparities among counties in assessment levels have developed in past years because a policy gradual equalization was not followed.

To equalize statewide at this time would cause substantial hardships for many taxpayers and would worsen inequities within counties, he said.

Second, the General Assembly, by joint resolution, has established a special study commission to review possible changes in the law in this area. It would not be appropriate to take administrative action affecting large numbers of taxpayers when the legislature may soon change the system for application of multipliers.

The status quo should be maintained until the legislature has an opportunity to act.

Kirk said he has been instructed by Gov. Dan Walker to give full cooperation to the legislative study committee in its research and deliberations. Administrative proposals will be submitted to the committee.

"Everyone who has wrestled with the property tax problem agrees that we must work together to develop solutions which have the broadest possible support," Kirk said.

Springfield—"Buckle up for safety" is an old jingle, but it's meaning is just as important today.

It's not only important, it's mandatory.

As outlined in the Illinois Vehicle Code, no person shall sell a 1965 or newer model motor vehicle unless the front seat is equipped with two sets of seat safety belts. Further, it is unlawful to operate any 1961 or later model vehicle unless the two sets are present.

As defined in the code, "seat safety belts" are belts or harnesses meeting the specifications outlined by the Department of Law Enforcement.

About this time you're probably ready to throw out one of the usual protestations which invariably crop up when the subject of seat belts comes up.

Like, "I'd rather be thrown clear than trapped inside a burning car or one that ends up in the bottom of a lake."

Relax. Less than one percent of all injury-producing accidents involves fire or submersion, according to Law Enforcement literature. Even if these incidences should occur, your chances of staying conscious and releasing yourself are greatly enhanced.

—I'm safer if thrown clear. Absolutely not. You are five times safer within your vehicle, according to a safety survey conducted by Cornell University. Seat belts keep you from being thrown into the path of another vehicle and from being thrown against the pavement, curb or other obstacle.

—I'm so uncomfortable with seat belts on. Actually, a snugly secured seat belt prevents slouching and eliminates fatigue.

But perhaps the most important reason of all for wearing seat belts is the fact that they do save lives and reduce injuries. And they could do a lot more if universally worn at all times.

Figures from the department indicate a minimum of 5,000 lives could be saved annually throughout the entire country if belts were properly used. Even more important, about one-third of the number of serious injuries could be avoided. That's about 50,000 Illinoisans who could be spared crippling or disfiguring injuries each year.

Isn't your life worth the few seconds it takes to "buckle up for safety?"

Gac-McMullen nuptials

An out-of-town wedding of interest here was that of Miss Christina Lynn McMullen and Frank David Gac, 360 Carver, Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich., on Aug. 12 at the First Federated Church in Peoria, Ill.

The bride is a daughter of Drs. Thomas and Jane W. McMullen, 220 Ridgmont Road, Peoria. Mr. Gac is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Gac, 2641 Washington Ave., Granite City.

Officiating at the double-ring ceremony at 2 o'clock in the afternoon was the Dr. Wilbur Simmons, before an altar decorated with vases of pink and white carnations and roses interspersed with baby breath. White satin bows marked the family pews.

Presiding at the organ was the church organist who played "Wedding Song," "One in the Spirit" and "How Great Thou Art."

For her wedding, the bride, selected a gown of white silk organza in an A-line style with peau d'ange lace trim on the fitted bodice, high Victorian neckline and long bishop sleeves.

The hemline of the semi-straight skirt was edged in matching lace and was the attached chapel length train. She wore a beaded Juliet cap accented with Alencon lace to secure her silk illusion veil and carried an elongated bouquet of gardenias, pink carnations, stephanotis and pink baby breath.

Miss Diane K. Shemel was bridesmaid serving with bridesmaids Miss Margaret McMullen, a sister of the bride, Miss Elizabeth Gac, the groom's sister, Miss Jeanne M. Terry, Miss Carol Harms, and Miss Diane R. Johnson.

They wore Empire style gowns in mint green fashioned with puffed sleeves and a ruffle at the hemlines. Their short nose tip veils were held in place with matching Juliet caps and each held nosegays of pink and white daisies, baby breath and pink Sweetheart roses.

The groom chose Richard Schaus as his best man. Groomsman included Phillip J. Gac, a brother of the groom, Ed Crylan, Al Christ and Kevin King.

Immediately following the service guests were received at a reception held at the Willow Knolls Country Club in Peoria. The rehearsal dinner was served at the Jumer's Castle Lodge in Peoria.

Award contracts for street improvements

Contracts for resurfacing nine streets in Granite City, including a section of Pontoon Road, were awarded to Bituminous Co., East St. Louis and Collinsville, by the Granite City Council Monday night.

Bituminous was the only bidder on the projects with a $22,494 bid for Pontoon Road resurfacing and a bid of $198,241 on overlays for the other eight streets.

The second contract includes surfacing and sealing Edison Avenue from 20th to 26th Street, Grand Avenue from 20th to 24th Street, State Street from 27th to 29th Street, Fehling Road from Benton to State Street, Washington Avenue from 20th to 22nd Street, Edwards Street from Henry to Nameoki Road and about 2,450 feet of Edgewood Avenue.

The project is to be financed by federal revenue sharing funds.

Alderman R. E. Robertson objected, saying the revenue sharing funds were to be used equally for all wards. Other aldermen said there was no such agreement and that the money had to be spent where it was needed most.

named for resurfacing were deteriorating and needed resurfacing before winter in order to avoid major street repairs.

The council voted in favor of dedicating a 30-foot wide strip of land surrounding Worthen Park to the park board and adjoining landowners can construct a road there, sharing the costs of the project.

The first reading was passed and the dedication ordinance will be returned at the next meeting for final passage. The road will encompass about 2.1 acres.

The council voted to have the East St. Louis and Interurban Water Co. install and maintain a fire hydrant in the Cloverview Subdivision.

The aldermen voted to have the city attorney investigate a request by the water company to raise rates. The Interstate Commerce Commission is to hold hearings on the request.

Mayor Paul Schuler said the issue should be studied because the utility recently raised rates. The new proposal would increase the cost to the average residential user from about $5.50 per month to $7.14 per month.

Increased operating costs and the cost of new facilities were listed as reasons for the rate increase.

First Assembly of God Church was granted permission to raise a banner at 20th Street and Madison Avenue under the supervision of Street Superintendent Lionel Portelli. The banner is to advertise a church activity.

Victor Koenig, Granite City Civil Defense director, was granted $335 expenses to attend the Illinois Civil Defense Council convention Sept. 14 to 16 at Morris, Ill., and the U.S. Civil Defense Council convention Oct. 6 to 8 at St. Paul, Minn.

The council formally granted raises to all city employees which formerly were negotiated and announced. All policemen, firemen, street department and treatment plant employees were granted $52 per month increases plus seniority increases.

City hall clerks were granted $35 per month increases and custodians received 6 per cent raises. All raises were retroactive to May 1.

Police Chief Ronald Vieser and Fire Chief Don Parente received increases from $15,622 per year to $16,535. Sewage Treatment Plant Superintendent Robert Jackson's salary was increased from $13,830 to $14,469 per year and

Dr. Reid Sutton, assistant technical secretary of the Granite City Air Pollution Control Department, was granted a salary increase from $12,500 to $14,210, all retroactive to May 1.

The council also reduced the hours worked by firemen from 36.1 to 32, except during the months of June, July and August. Because of the exception, the decreased hours will not take effect until Sept. 1.

The City Plan Commission was limited to 12 members by action of the council. Formerly the commission had been without a limit and 11 members had been appointed.

The board upheld the recommendations of the Plan Commission denying three petitions and granting three variances recommended by the Board of Appeals.

Schuler reappointed Jackson as superintendent of the sewage treatment plant and Robert Walkenbach as a member of the Animal Shelter Board. Both appointments expire April 30, 1974.

The councilmen observed a moment of silence for the late Kathy Nunn, 14, the daughter of Granite City Fireman Robert Nunn and Mrs. Beverly Nunn, 2453 Center St. She died Monday at Children's Hospital, St. Louis, following an illness.

TRAILER OFFICE OF G. L. Tarlton Co., low bidder for the $10.8 million secondary sewage treatment plant, was moved onto the plant site Tuesday in preparation for starting construction. Robert Jackson, superintendent of Granite City's primary treatment plant, checks the office facility. The new plant will be built on a 14-acre site of the Granite City Army Installation, adjoining the present primary plant facility. (Press-Record Photo)

Food stamp rules amended

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has announced amendments to food stamp program regulations which:

—Allow food coupons to be used to purchase imported foods and seeds and plants for home gardens, and —Require a nationwide food stamp program by June 30, 1974.

The revised regulations implement amendments to the Food Stamp Act contained in Public Law 93-58 — The Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973 — which President Nixon signed Aug. 16. They were scheduled for publication in the Federal Register this week, and will become effective upon publication. Future notices will detail other changes in the Food Stamp Program required by the new law.

The revised rules redefine eligible foods as any food or food product — domestic or imported — for human consumption. They allow food stamps to be used for the purchase of seeds and plants used in a home garden to produce food for the eligible household. Alcoholic beverages and tobacco are specifically excluded.

The amendments also require states to implement the food stamp program in every one of their political subdivisions no later than June 30, 1974.

No jurisdiction is exempt from this requirement, unless the state can demonstrate that it is impossible or impractical to implement the program in a particular area.

Nameoki Methodist scene of Bernaix-Bird wedding

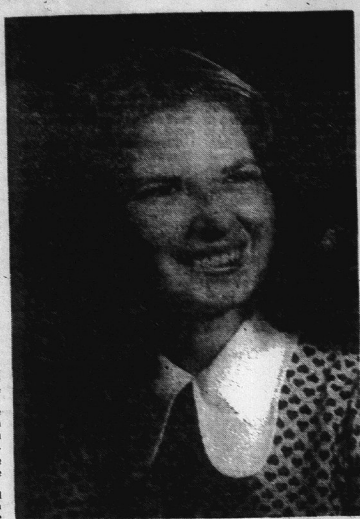

Miss Laura Woodbury Bird, a daughter of Mrs. Patricia W. Bird, 87 E. Elm St., Alto, and Terry Wayne Bernaix, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Bernaix, 2106 Manley Ave., exchanged wedding vows at 7 o'clock Aug. 18 at the Nameoki United Methodist Church.

The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernaix, served a rehearsal dinner to the bridal party in their home the evening prior to the exchange of vows.

A reception was given in the church Fellowship Hall after the service with Mrs. Rick Cavins, a cousin of the groom, attending the guest book.

Ferns, arrangements of summer flowers and lighted tapers in the branched candelabra decorated the altar for the double-ring evening ceremony performed by the Rev. William D. Fester.

Miss Marilyn Bass, soloist, sang "Wedding Song," "Never My Love," and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied at the organ by David Long.

BRIDE-TO-BE. Miss Mary Ann Neumann, whose engagement to Patrick James Loftus is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer D. Neumann, 1551 Cottage Ave. A late winter wedding is being planned. (Gravemann Photography)

Candles were lighted by Pamela Tester, cousin of the groom, and Christine Luckert. The bride was presented in marriage by a close friend Ralph Barker. A heavy Venise lace inserted with white satin ribbon accented the mandarin collar of the Empire bodice and shepherdess sleeves of the gown of white bridal satin chosen by the bride.

Loftus-Neumann betrothal

Matching lace formed a wide panel on the front of the slightly gathered skirt terminating in a wide ruffle at the hem. Lace was repeated on the detachable chapel train and white satin ribbon encircled the high-rise waist, forming a bow at the back with long streamers.

Miss Joyce Hutton was maid of honor, and Miss Myra Monroy and Miss Diane Colson, served as bridesmaids. Bev Tester, cousin of the groom, was flower girl with the ring bearer Tim Bernaix, a brother of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer D. Neumann, 1551 Cottage Ave., are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Ann Neumann, to Patrick James Loftus, a son of Mrs. and Mrs. Mickey Dean Loftus, 35 Bermuda Lane.

The bride-elect, a graduate of Granite City High School, is attending Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Tex. She is majoring in accounting and will graduate in December.

Her fiancé also was graduated from Granite City High School and attended Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville for two years. He is now employed by Carpet Sales and Installation Co. in this area.

Tentative plans are being made by the engaged couple for a late winter wedding.

Houseman-Dixon troth

The marriage of Miss Karen Ann Dixon and Sergeant Jerry Lee Houseman of Granite City took place Aug. 8 in Fort Worth, Tex. The event is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Myrion E. Dixon of North Platte, Neb.

The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene E. Hancock, 2822 Denver St. He graduated from Granite City High School in 1970 and presently is stationed at Carswell Air Force Base in Fort Worth.

The former Miss Dixon is a 1971 graduate of East High School in Cheyenne, Wyo. After a wedding trip, the couple is now residing in Fort Worth.

Three facing damage charge

Nancy Martin, 18, Rural Route One; Forest L. Borror, 18, of 215 Paradise Lane, and Danny L. Stephens, 19, of 205 Birch Ave., were arrested during the weekend after Granite City police stopped their auto at 22nd Street and the railroad tracks. A search of the vehicle allegedly revealed a .25 cal. automatic pistol hidden in the trunk.

Police said the auto matched a description of one that had left the scene after its occupants fired four shots into the 1973 auto of Mark McKinney, 1271 Wood, which was parked in front of his home.

Two of those shots struck the rear window and the other two shots struck the trunk lid, officers reported.

Borror was charged with criminal damage to property and reckless conduct. The other two youths were charged with criminal damage to property.

All three were released on $200 cash bail.

'Old soldiers never die—they just fade away' and the number of American war veterans will continue to grow until 1975

Growth in the veteran population, from 24 million to 29 million since 1965, will continue for two more years and then start a steady decline, a Veterans Administration projection shows.

In 1975, living veterans of all wars will number 29.2 million, and after that date, deaths will begin to outnumber military discharges.

By the year 2,000, the veteran population will be back to the 1965 figure of 24.1 million.

The VA projects the veteran population periodically for planning purposes, with special emphasis on assessing future needs for health care facilities.

At present, for example, World War II veterans number over 14 million with an average age of 53. But by the turn of the century, more than 30 per cent of the remaining veterans will have served during or after the Korean War.

The projection shows the War II group will be down to 13.5 million by June 1975 with an average age of 55.4 years and 25 years later there will have been a 68 per cent drop to 4.4 million with an average age of 77.4 years.

Two older veterans groups—World War I and Spanish American War veterans—will still be represented by the turn of the century.

The forecast is that there will be about a thousand War I veterans (average age of 101.9). And chances are that some of the Spanish War veterans will still be living in the year 2,000. This group currently number about 2,000 with an average age of 93.7 years; by 1975, approximately 1,000 will remain.

Fewer than 500 probably will be living in June 1985 when the average age will be 102.8. No age projection is made for the few who will live to the year 2,000.

The last veteran of the Indian Wars (1817-1896) Fred Friske, died a short time ago in Chicago at the age of 101.

Rising costs driving private schools broke

Copley News Service

The nation's private and parochial schools still are running into tough sledding, more than a year after President Nixon pledged his help to keep them from going out of business.

Especially hard hit in the last year have been private boarding schools. Parents aren't sending their children to school as they did a few years ago, private school officials say.

But even at day schools, those where students live at home, enrollment has dropped steadily in the last 12 months across the nation.

Private school officials at both the elementary and high school levels had hoped a new trend toward co-education would hold or at least slow the enrollment decline. It has not done so, they admit.

Enrollment is singled out as a villain by non-public school educators.

After World War II private schools had a series of boom years. They were able to keep tuition fees at reasonably low levels because school operating costs were nominal.

Today they have reached levels that make it necessary for private schools to boost tuition beyond the reach of many families who otherwise might have sent their children to non-public institutions.

At some schools, where private endowments haven't kept up with higher teacher salaries and equipment costs, tuition has jumped to $4,500 a year per student—more than most colleges and universities.

State legislatures are slow to vote public funds to help support private schools. Even when legislatures of such a move bring protests from taxpayers who say they already are overburdened with levies for public schools.

Hence a U.S. Census Bureau survey shows that in the six years through 1971 private school enrollment dropped 23 per cent and declined further in the last 18 months.

The financial pinch is only one of the private school's problems, however. The image of the public school at both the elementary and high school level is being cleaned up and made more attractive to the thousands who otherwise might have sent their children to private institutions.

New earthquake-proof classrooms are being built in many regions where quakes are a threat. School administrations are trying, though not always successfully, to halt the on-campus flow of drugs to students and stamp out the "gang" wars that have disrupted many schools and brought parents.

Teachers who for years preferred to instruct in private schools because the pay was better and students were more responsive and better behaved now are beginning to drift back to public schools. One reason is that teacher unions are exacting higher salaries in most sections of the country. Private schools don't recognize the unions.

While there still are a variety of federal and state plans in the works aimed at building out private and parochial schools, none has achieved any marked success so far. Public school officials don't like to see so many enrollment declines and closings of private schools. It merely means higher public school enrollments and more costs, at a time when the public already is balking at higher school taxes.

Some educators believe continued widespread closing of private schools could add another $1 billion to the cost of operating public schools across the nation.

President Nixon, who has promised to try to keep private schools from going bankrupt, told a conference of the National Catholic Education Association that if private schools fail generally, "many public schools might very well go under with them."

LUNCH TIME—School cafeterias are beehives of activity when the bell rings signaling lunch time. Meals are carefully supervised to make sure students get a proper nutritional balance. But rising meat prices have forced many school districts to look for alternatives to meat.

Rising meat prices hurt public schools

Copley News Service

There are few areas where the impact of rising meat prices has been greater than it has on school cafeterias. "Rising meat prices really put a lot of school districts in a spot," said Charles Todd, director of food services for a large West Coast school district. "The only way to get around this situation have been to try and increase the number of persons eating in the cafeterias, thereby offsetting rising prices, or substitute other protein foods for meat in the menus."

Basically all public school cafeteria operations are similar. All follow the guidelines set down in the United States Department of Agriculture's National School Lunch Program.

Under this program every "Type A" hot lunch served in a school cafeteria must supply one-third to one-half of the daily nutritional requirements of a nine to 18-year-old child.

This includes specified amounts of protein (meat, fish, poultry, cheese, eggs, beans, peas or peanut butter), fruit, vegetables, bread, butter or margarine and milk. Meat prices are established by each district's board of education at the beginning of each school year. The prices are set to allow the operation to break even and cover certain expenses such as the replacement of equipment.

"Most districts weren't able to increase the price of their 'Type A' cafeteria lunch this past year because of the 90-day wage-price freeze," said Todd. "With the most recent freeze running through the better part of summer it's impossible to make any recommendations to the board as to what prices should be."

According to Todd, when meat prices skyrocketed a lot of school districts found their suppliers of fresh meats were unable to fulfill the contracts they had made with the districts.

"Prices for fresh hamburger rose as much as 30 cents per pound, a price which most districts couldn't afford," said Todd. "This meant the districts had to buy their meat week-by-week on the open market until the price came down."

"Districts are allowed some flexibility in substituting less expensive protein items for meat," said Todd. "But these substitute items must be OK'd by their state's Bureau of Food Services, which is responsible for administering the National School Lunch Program at the state level."

Todd doesn't know what the new school year will bring. Last year most grocery prices stood fairly firm and the vendors honored their contracts. He said the only big price swing was in fresh meats.

"I expect that most districts will be hit with tremendous price increases when they put out bids for groceries for this coming school year," he said. "The increases could run anywhere from five to 10 per cent above last year."

To offset rising prices and keep school lunches at a reasonable price school districts have found it necessary to streamline and centralize their cafeteria operations.

"You'll find that most districts have gone to the centralized cafeteria system in which a junior or senior high school has the only preparation kitchen in an area and prepares meals for six or seven surrounding elementary school cafeterias," said Todd.

This cuts way back on a district's cafeteria labor costs because the elementary schools need less staff to help to staff their lunch rooms and serve the food.

Under the centralized system a cafeteria provides the counter meal for the students at the school; bulk meats are delivered to the school and trucked to schools which have equipment for hot and cold storage and over-the-counter distribution; and prepared meals which are prepared and packed at the central cafeteria in hot and cold containers and dispensed at schools without actual cafeteria facilities.

"It goes without saying that the best meal is the one that's closest to the kitchen," said Todd. "Food changes when it's kept warming for an hour or more."

"People involved in cafeteria operations realize this," he said. "And they are constantly trying to figure out more economical and efficient ways to bring the kids the best meals possible."

School for toddlers urged by educators

Copley News Service

Each school year there is more dialogue about turning the clock forward and sending junior or senior pre-kindergarten school at the age of four.

And every 12 months there is highly vocal opposition from some teachers, but especially mothers who say they don't want their toddlers forced into learning the ABC's before they can tie their shoes.

Consequently, despite arguments by many educators in favor of compulsory pre-kindergarten training for tots, the idea has made little headway across the nation in the last year. There are, however, many voluntary pre-kindergarten classes open to children whose mothers don't necessarily subscribe to schooling before ABC's.

Educators who favor tax-subsidized training for 4-year-olds claim scientific studies have shown that the first five years of human life are crucial for learning. A survey conducted for Illinois educators indicated that half of all growth in human intelligence occurs between birth and age four. Some psychologists have put the estimated percentage even higher.

The U.S. Office of Education has stayed well out of the controversy over whether 4-year-olds should attend classes regularly, on grounds it is either a state or local issue to be decided at one of those levels of government. Nevertheless federal officials concede many educators and parents are interested in classifying childhood learning, in view of the Illinois survey and other similar findings. They do not, however, see the point to the federally-financed Operation Headstart for pre-school children of low-income families.

Of the estimated 12.5 million U.S. children from 3 to 5, about four million are enrolled in pre-primary classes. These include nursery school, kindergarten, church-supported and operated pre-primary schools, combination nursery-day care and other private activities, such as pre-school tutoring.

Educators claim 4-year-olds who attend school have an advantage over those who enroll for the first time at age 5 for kindergarten or for the first grade. The idea has a lot of support from educator groups such as the American Association of School Administrators, the Education Policies Commission of the National Education Association, the American Federation of Teachers and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

In the latter group, however, are many parents who take issue with the national position of the organization. In heavily populated states like New York, California and Illinois, opponents of the school-by-4 move warn their classroom facilities already are overtaxed and that to add additional ones would make the overcrowding worse. Compulsory pre-kindergarten classes would add to school tax rates, they add, because they would involve additional salaries for teachers rather than volunteer instructors often used in non-compulsory pre-kindergarten schools.

In California, State Superintendent of Schools Wilson Riles has proposed a law which would give parents a choice to send their 4-year-olds to school, just as 5-year-olds go to kindergarten. His aim, Riles says, is to prepare young children so that by the time they reach the third grade reading, writing and simple arithmetic already will be behind them.

Like the four-day work week, the 4-year-old-to-school move is catching on in some regions. But it is so controversial that it has not even been discussed by state legislatures, which would be the only areas where educators make the program an elective one.

Said one mother of four who opposes the enrollment of 4-year-olds in any school activities beyond the playground: "Goodness knows the kids learn too much as it is today, long before they should know so much. Their parents can teach them more at home about what they should know during the first four years of their lives than they can learn with all the distractions in a classroom full of excited children."

Odd, even facts about the Interstate 'numbers game'

Besides providing an interesting topic of conversation on long vacation trips, the system used to determine route numbers on the nationwide Interstate Highway System is also helpful in finding where a road is located and in which direction it runs.

These are the key elements of the Interstate numbering code, as summarized for us by the Highway Users Federation for Safety and Mobility.

Main Interstate routes are numbered with one or two digits, with the lowest numbers in the west and south.

Odd-numbered routes run north and south; even-numbered routes run east and west.

For example, I-5 is the western-most, main north-south Interstate route in the contiguous United States, traversing California, Oregon and the state of Washington.

On the other side of the continent, I-80—from Maine to Florida—is the eastern-most route, and has the highest number.

Cross-country routes running east and west start with I-10 in the south and continue to I-90 in the north. In a few cases, an Interstate route splits into parallel or diverging branches. I-35 in Texas is a good example, dividing into two main highways, I-35E in Dallas and I-35W in nearby Fort Worth.

Outside the metropolitan region, the separate routes join again as I-35.

Partial or full circumferential or "belt" roads that connect with main Interstates at the edge of metropolitan areas have three digits, using the main number in an even number and an even number prefix.

In Washington, D. C., the "Beltway"—circling the metropolitan area, connecting with main north-south routes I-95, is numbered I-495.

The local circumferential example is Interstate 270. Supplementary radial or "spoke" highways leaving a main Interstate and dead-ending in an urban area also have a three digit number, using the same number as the main road but with an odd prefix. Thus I-195 leaves I-95 in Providence, Rhode Island and ends in New Bedford, Massachusetts.

In order to avoid duplication—and motorist confusion—different prefix numbers are used within a state when necessary.

Three "beltways" within one state connecting with main route I-40, then, would probably be numbered I-240, I-440 and I-640.

Girls invade sports — and locker rooms too

Copley News Service

For centuries the area of athletics has been almost exclusively male domain. Oh, there have been and are today girls competing in just about every type of sport on both amateur and professional levels but the lion's share of the notoriety has always gone to the males.

There are few athletic events where women and men have been allowed to compete on the same level, on the high school, collegiate, international amateur or professional level.

But all this is changing. Gradually, the world of male athletics is finding that there are a few females who can compete and are willing to make the sacrifices to play against the guys.

The trend may never reach the point where there's a girl starting at first linebacker next to Dick Butkus in the NFL. But Pro Bowl Gamble has there may come a time when girls will be seen with more frequency on high school and college teams.

Recently the interscholastic athletic organizations of biological New York City and California adopted similar rule changes which will allow girls to try out for all boys' sports whether or not the school has a girls' team in that particular sport.

The changes have come about because of heavy pressure and an occasional lawsuit for sex discrimination.

For example, the California Interscholastic Federation, which sanctions sports at almost all high schools in California, has been faced with several court cases charging sex discrimination in barring women from interscholastic sports.

There are also about to eliminate sex discrimination in budgeting for high school and state college sports.

Recently California State Senator Mervyn M. Dymally proposed a bill which would require each school and state college to provide equal athletic facilities and programs for women students as for men.

With the way paved for girls to compete against boys for positions on athletic teams, a few coaches have taken stands pro and con on girls trying out for their teams.

Says one coach, "I don't know. I've heard even some boys endanger themselves by trying out and I usually give it to them straight and ask them to think about it."

"I don't think I've ever seen a girl who could play this sport. Listen, if some mountain girl came in and could knock people down, I'd be happy to have her. But a collision sport like football, I don't see how a girl could play."

A basketball coach noted, "I think I'm like most coaches and if a girl is good enough to make the team, that's great. But I think there are certain sports girls aren't physically able to play at the high school level."

"Intellectually, psychologically, a girl is every bit as competent as a guy. But by the physical makeup they don't have the sheer strength to survive, much less excel."

"Sure, not let 'em compete," said a track coach. "I think it will all come out in the wash. It will be the survival of the fittest and even if the girls come out few of them will be good enough to make it."

"Maybe this is coming at a good time. At some schools sports are dying. Having girls on the team might bring more guys out and it might be good thing for school spirit."

A swim coach commented, "Swimming is one of the sports where a girl really does have a chance. But if a girl is going to have to work her tail off. If you made it easier, it would be discriminating against the guys."

"I think there'll be problems but I'm interested to see how it will go. Heck, think about it. This could be the greatest thing that ever happened for attendance at wrestling meets."

Said a tennis coach, "For the non-contact sports such as tennis, this is a great rule. Why not? As a tennis coach I want to put together the strongest team I can. If that means having girls on the team that's fine with me."

Some girls have already broken the sex barrier. This past basketball season two girls were part of the varsity basketball team at Grossmont College near San Diego. The only place where women are breaking through — there's also the locker room.

Just ask Tom Archambault, the trainer at Grossmont College near San Diego. His assistant trainer is 19-year-old Christa Sargent, a physical education major.

But Miss Sargent is not alone among female trainers, or trainers. Connie Spomer, a graduate student at California State University, San Diego, is also in the field.

Which all goes to prove that on or off the field, the world of male athletics is going to be a very interesting place.

Hartigan keeps career afloat

By KEN WATSON
Capitol News Service
Springfield — "To me, it's performance that counts."

This is the response from Lt. Gov. Neil Hartigan to the inevitable question as to how it feels to be unseated much of the time by Gov. Daniel Walker.

At 35, Hartigan who is recognized throughout Illinois as a young politician with vast potential, is undergoing a trial that would try the patience of those Chicago ward committeemen much older and battle-tested than himself.

He has been succeeded into a situation unprecedented in Illinois government by an odd combination of a new state constitution and governor as unpredictable and independent as any in the state's history.

The fact that Hartigan was on the other side in the primary doesn't help any. The basic problem is that the 1970 Constitution gives the lieutenant governor nothing specific to do, other than those duties which may be assigned him by the governor or the legislature.

A Republican-dominated legislature is not inclined to help a Democrat lieutenant governor and Democrat Gov. Daniel Walker is about as eager to share the spotlight as the late comedian W. C. Fields.

Granite City Press-Record

But Hartigan has seized on his unusual situation as a challenge and by hard work, imagination, a likable personality plus unlimited patience has become a significant force in state government and politics rather than someone sitting in a Statehouse office and twiddling his thumbs.

"We didn't want the office to become merely symbolic," he explains.

After six months in office Hartigan truly has prevented this and kept his political career hopes afloat as well.

With great persistence, six phone calls on one issue alone, he won from Walker assignments in four key areas of state affairs. These were in the fields of adding the elderly, advancing the Illinois site for the proposed new St. Louis airport, and development of better life for Illinois citizens of Latin American backgrounds.

Significant progress has been realized in all four.

The most dramatic accomplishment was legislative adoption of bills created under Hartigan's leadership to create a separate State Department for the Elderly.

At the Statehouse the scope of this achievement was dramatized by Walker's signing of the bill at an elaborate ceremony where Hartigan was obviously positively among the missing.

Hartigan shrugs off this and other smobs, but there is little doubt about how he feels. Often he wanders into the Capitol office of friend and confidant Secy. of State Michael J. Hoeft to vent his frustrations.

"I don't have this red hair just for my health," Hartigan jokes, "but the first thing Mike says is sit down and cool off."

Abs of great comfort and assistance is his predecessor and 1972 primary running mate former Lt. Gov. Paul Simon. The two live in the same Southwest Springfield neighborhood and Simon, who like Hoeft might be expected to consider Hartigan a potential political rival, has been unlimited in his advice and morale boosting.

Hartigan, Chicagoan by background, also has followed the Simon-Hoeft technique of widespread speaking. Since January he has made 157 talks to various groups, none of them political.

Time for career education

Illinois is on the brink of establishing a state board of education and it is time for a stronger commitment to the state's long-neglected and poorly coordinated vocational education programs, state school chief Michael J. Bakalis has announced.

Bakalis urged more than 1,000 vocational education teachers and administrators to take advantage of the approaching "new era" in education and demand a greater role for vocational and career education.

Supt. Bakalis made his remarks at the annual convention of the Illinois Vocational Association in Chicago.

"In Illinois," he said, "we are at a crucial crossroads with respect to career education. At issue is whether or not career education is to become prominent, pervasive and a permanent feature of the education system."

Interest in career education in Illinois has "been sporadic at best," he said. This has resulted in a splintered administrative structure for vocational education and poor course offerings and programs in schools, he added.

Since the new state board is to be named in 1974 will have authority over secondary and elementary education, as well as vocational education, it presents a promising potential for coordination of the two.

"Career education will become an integral aspect of the total educational program in Illinois because the state board's authority will extend over public and private schools, preschool through grade 12, including vocational education," Bakalis said.

"This is broader authority than OSPI (Bakalis' office) presently enjoys, and for vocational and career education, this has important and promising implications."

Like cluster of apartments

By MARY LOU MANNING
Capitol News Service

Springfield — The buildings look something like a cluster of apartment houses. The grounds are immaculate but the streets are deserted on this hot, August day.

A dog house and swing set give hint that children are not far away. Indeed, a few minutes after 1 arrived several cars pulled up to Stephen Douglas Hall and the children tumbled out.

But braces and white, head coverings, spasmodic movements and unclear voices indicated that these were not just "ordinary" children.

A couple of feet away, a strapping six-footer sat rocking to and fro under a big maple tree. This unusual activity provided the first inkling that this is not just a cluster of apartments — this is an institution of some sort.

Actually, it is one of Illinois' seven zone centers, Andrew MacFarland in Springfield. This 165-bed center is devoid of many characteristics of the stereotyped "institution." It is home-like, and it is filled with people who care.

But I was a little confused as to exactly what a zone center is compared to, say, Jacksonville or Anna State Hospital.

"A zone center is not a state hospital although it is funded by the state and comes under the jurisdiction of the Department of Mental Health," explained Dr. Martin Cohen, superintendent of MacFarland.

The zone centers are located at a central point within a given area. This is to give the residents a sense of geographical ties.

They differ from state hospitals in three ways.

"State hospitals have residents numbering in the thousands while the zone centers limit their number," according to Cohen. He did add that the trend is to decrease the number of residents in the large, "custodial" type of state hospitals, too.

The second important difference is the amount of time spent in zone centers.

"Anything over a couple of months in a zone center is too long," the superintendent said. "However, the amount of time spent here depends upon the program."

At MacFarland there are several programs running simultaneously. The mentally retarded children average six to nine months at Douglas Hall; the emotionally disturbed children stay about the same length of time.

The mentally retarded adult averages six months at MacFarland while the adult attempting to overcome a life crisis stays just about a month.

Finally, the adult alcoholism program administered at James Monroe Hall runs about 45 days.

The zone center's philosophy also places heavy emphasis on community linkage.

Clergymen, family friends, as well as other community members actively participate in all phases of treatment.

In some cases, such as with the retarded child in treatment, they must take part in treatment so that they may continue therapy when the child returns home.

There are no locks on the doors at MacFarland. They don't need them.

Campaign disclosures ordered

Gov. Dan Walker Monday issued what is believed to be the most comprehensive executive order requiring public disclosure of campaign contributions.

The executive order requires disclosure of contributions for the last two years and in future campaigns by:

1. All firms doing business with the state.
2. All firms regulated by the state, such as banks, insurance companies, savings and loan associations, liquor licenses, etc.
3. All officers, directors, holders of beneficial interest and lobbyists for any company doing business with the state or regulated by the state.

Contributions must be reported for any campaign for state office, including statewide elected officials and legislators.

The sweeping order went into effect immediately and the first disclosure (due Sept. 15) will require a report on all contributions made in the past two years. In the future, there will be not less than semi-annual disclosure required.

The executive order fulfills a campaign pledge made by Gov. Walker in his first debate with Gov. Ogilvie in May, 1972.

The order had been withheld by Gov. Walker pending a ruling by Judge Ackerman upholding the constitutionality of an earlier ethics executive order requiring public disclosure of income and assets by state employees.

The court decision guidelines established on the first executive order were applied in the latest order.

At a news conference announcing the issuance of the executive order, Gov. Walker called upon the attorney general, the secretary of state, the superintendent of public instruction, the comptroller, the Speaker of the House and other leaders of the House, and the president of the Senate and other leaders of the Senate to require the same disclosure for firms doing business with the state.

Gov. Walker now has issued three unprecedented orders dealing with ethics in government.

1. The first prohibits any state employee from asking any other state employee to contribute any money to any candidate and prohibits forcing any employee to work on behalf of any candidate.

2. The second requires all key employees to make full public disclosure of their personal income, sources of income, debts and assets.

The third — issued Monday — requires public disclosure of campaign contributions by firms and their top officials doing business with the state.

In announcing the new executive order, Gov. Walker said:

"I have now issued three unprecedented executive orders on ethics. Each is a milestone. And as a package, they give the people of Illinois ethics safeguards unparalleled in this country."

"The first prohibits any state employee from asking any other state employee to contribute to any candidate or to work for any candidate. To best of my ability, the old line shakedown of state employees is at an end in the executive branch of government."

"And no longer is a state employee's job at stake if he doesn't want to do political work for a candidate."

"The second executive order requires all key state employees to make full public disclosure of all sources of income, assets, liabilities, and net worth."

"And now the order requiring firms doing business with the state, or regulated by the state and all of their officers and directors to disclose their campaign contributions."

"I would hope that all other state officials beginning with the lieutenant-governor and the attorney general on down to the speaker of the House and the president of the Senate do the same — Democrats and Republicans alike."

"I want to make this clear: this order not only goes back two years but will apply to all campaigns so long as I am governor."

"I am also optimistic that this order will be held constitutional. By waiting for a favorable decision on personal income disclosure, we have been able to draft an order that will be upheld."

"I want campaign financing out in the open. I want people to know that in my administration everyone will be treated alike — whether they contribute to political campaigns or not."

"I have had to act because the legislature has refused to act. The next step will be to seek legislation that will codify these executive orders. That will be the next big fight in the legislature. Surely the legislature knows the people will accept nothing less than open government."

"I would hope that all other state officials beginning with the lieutenant-governor and the

Koerper named to SIUE post

Richard Koerper, 39, Rivers Drive, Granite City, has been appointed director of publicity and communications for the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Community Involvement Project board of directors.

The Community Involvement Project's main concern is to find university students and faculty for volunteer work in community agencies throughout Madison and St. Clair counties, such as Alton State Hospital, the Middletown Neighborhood Center in Alton and many agency fund drives.

The Community Involvement Project also has weekly programs for elementary and junior high students.

Nelson Miller to state post

Nelson C. Miller Jr., a former convict, has been appointed to the new position of prisoner advocate by Illinois Department of Corrections Director Allyn R. Siefaff.

Siefaff said this is the first time in Illinois that inmates have been represented by a prisoner advocate.

He said Miller, a native of Alton, is especially qualified for the job. The 33-year-old black correctional counselor has served sentences in two federal prisons.

Miller has been employed by the corrections department for almost three years, two of them as a youth supervisor at Hanna City State Boys School. He joined the department at the Peoria Work Release Center in Bartonville as a resident counselor in December 1972.

Miller will investigate inmate grievances contained in the 100 or more letters Siefaff receives each week. He also will regularly visit all of the department's Adult Division institutions to listen to prisoner complaints and work with the staff members to resolve them, Siefaff said. He continued:

"Miller will, in effect, be my ears in the institutions, and he will report directly to me."

State bonus for police

Illinois policemen who have completed college law enforcement courses will receive a state bonus of up to $200 per year under provisions of a bill signed into law by Gov. Dan Walker.

The bill (HB 684) provides $250,000 for grants to police officers who have completed 30 semester hours of law enforcement related courses. It is part of a $3,181,100 appropriation to the Law Enforcement Officers Training Board.

The bonus program, sponsored by Sen. Thomas Hyatt (D-Chicago), provides a grant of 2 per cent of an officer's pay or $300, whichever is less, for policemen who have completed the course requirements and have been employed for at least one year.

"This bill provides an important incentive for police officers to upgrade their professional standing," Walker said.

The Law Enforcement Officers Training Board funds local training programs across the state.

The appropriation bill for the board was sponsored by Rep. Ken Doyle (D-Carlinville).
